WSB Cuts Coal Wage Hike, Strike Threatens

CHEST GOAL IS NOW IN SIGHT, LEADERS THINK

Quota 70 Per Cent In, Big Donations Still Uncounted

David C. Silverstein, general drive chairman and C. D. McAdams, co-chairman of the Community Chest Drive said they were encouraged over the prospects of attaining the $75,000 goal set by the board of directors for the 1952-53 campaign. Reports are steadily pouring into the campaign office raising the total to the 72 per cent mark.

Two reports from Brownville, that of the Brown Container Corporation and Brown Paper Industries, were responsible for the major portion of the boost, Silverstein said in a statement from the Chest office. Reports from West Monroe continued to push the figureup to 70 per cent of the Westside goal and Kelly Thompson said he felt confident that West Monroe would go beyond its goal by the end of next week.

Ford, Bacon and Davis employees continued to show up strong. "A great deal of credit for the showing of Ford, Bacon and Davis in this year's campaign goes to Johnny Baugh, who takes a personal interest in the campaign and personally started it off," Silof the campaign, both Silverstein and McAdams pointed out that the $54,000 already in represents but a small part of the drive potential. Scores of the larger contributors in the area have not yet reported, and many payroll deductions campaigns in firms of large employee groups are just now getting started.

Campaign heads and the board of directors of the Chest acknowledged the cooperation of Ted Strausser of the Strausser Advertising Service and Gulf States Outdoor Advertising Company for putting up twelve billboards advertising the Chest campaign. "This is a measure of devotion and cooperation by both firms and the people allowing this service, beyond the ordinary call of civic obligation," Silverstein said.

In concluding their statement yesterday, both leaders urged that anyone with completed reports not picked up, to call campaign headquarters, telephone no. 3-8668, for immediate pick-up service.

FRAGMENTS OF METEOR SOUGHT

Observers Institute Officials Now In This Area

Two representatives from a Texas Observers Institute yesterday began a survey here to determine the probable end point of the meteor which disintergrated over this section of the country early Friday morning.

"We are guessing the meteor went out over Northeastern Louisiana roughly in the triangle bounded by Winnsboro, Vicksburg and Memphis," H. H. Morse, with the institute, said last night.

"The meteor may have been traveling about 15 miles high over northeast Louisiana when it started disintergrating," Morse estimated.

Since meteorites, the burned out meteor that lands on the earth, are scientifically important and worthy of study and preservation, we are searching for them, he added.

Morse and his associate, Oscar J. Monnig requested any one finding a meteorite to contact the News-Star—World office.

He described a meteorite as generally being a solid black crust-ed rock, almost always heavier than an ordinary rock and considerably different from regular county rocks. They generally fall in groups, sometimes as much as 10 miles or more apart, Morse said.

RACE RIOT IN SOUTH AFRICA FLAIRS ANEW

Six Killed, Twelve Injured At Port Elizabeth

DURBAN, South Africa, Sunday, Oct. 19 (AP)—The worst race rioting in South Africa since 1949 broke out yesterday in Port Elizabeth, killing six persons or more and injuring a dozen, at the suburban New Brighton Railway Station.

Considerable property was burned or smashed.

The area is noted for demonstrations against the white supremacy policies of the Malan government.

Rioters besieged the station for hours after the first outburst and prevented fire engine and ambulance crews under threats of stoning from helping some of the wounded.

The known dead were four white persons and two Africans, but it was feared more Africans were killed. All the reported injured are Africans suffering from bullet wounds. The first outbreak was fired on by police.

At 1:15 a.m. Sunday the situation was described as worsening but by 4 the senior police officer on duty said his men had the situation in hand.

Officials said several more Africans may have been killed.

REBELS CAPTURE FRENCH OUTPOST

Massive Attack By Vietminh Communists Force French To Fall Back

HANOI, Indo-China, Oct. 18 (AP)—Vietminh shock troops crushed the French Union garrison of Nghia Lo in a massive attack today and drove eastward on the heels of other French units pulling back from the area of that pivotal town toward the Red River delta.

The Communist-led rebels captured Nghia Lo with tactics and weapons that the French said clearly bore a made-in-China imprint.

After a 48-hour barrage with heavy mortars and 75-millimeter recoilless guns, they struck from the surrounding hills under the cover of rain and clouds that minimized the effectiveness of strafing and bombing by French warplanes.

By French accounts, a thousand of Ho Chi Minh's men led the assault against the barbed wire and concrete bunkers of French and Thai tribal troops totaling 600.

And more than 5,000 other rebels streamed down into the valley in the face of withering fire before the resistance of the garrison collapsed.

A half dozen outposts and two French positions in the mountains nearby had been overrun in preliminaries of the offensive against Nghia Lo, a Thai tribal town of 3,000 that is at once a gaotm mountainous Northwest Indo-China and a cap to the rich, rice-growing delta that is the main French defense bastion in Indo-China.

Although a thousand French parachute troops had been flown to stiffen defenses of the area, they evidently were not directly engaged. The die-hard garrison totaled only about a battalion. While part of the French reserve forces headed toward the delta, others moved southward.

SHRINERS ON PARADE — Shriners beam proudly as they careen down DeSiard in their "backward" automobile" during yesterday's afternoon parade. Backfiring continuously and frightening spectators off the sidewalks, the car was one of the most applauded attractions of the gala show. A shriner, below, clothed in gaily colored patch quilt shirt and trousers, greets little children and brings smiles to the grownup's faces as the parade passes by. The Shriners put on the spectacular parade during their one - day session yesterday. (Staff Photos by Leon Noland, Jr.)

Shriners Hold Big Clownfest

About 600 North Louisiana Shriners yesterday afternoon strutted over the old traffic bridge and down DeSiard street while spectators alternately applauded the fancy costumed marchers and laughed at the antics of the clowns.

The parade was led by his majesty, Potentate Percy E. Osborn, of Shreveport. Next followed Shriners of lesser degree.

The famous Shreveport band and bugle corps, clothed in their traditional red, white and green, furnished the marching cadence.

Noise, frightening enough to make the little children cling to their mother's skirts, was boomed from mighty confetti throwing cannons, wailing ambulance's sirens, a dingdonging bell on an ancient firetruck and the backfiring of a stubborn automobile.

The contrary car continuously twisted sideways, bucked into reverse and skidded forward under the expert guidance of a Shriner.

Three novices, who are "crossing the hot sands," obediently trotted ahead of a gun-toting sheriff while he tugged at their leashes.

Bands from Tallulah and Rayville provided further entertainment with their high-stepping majorettes and fast playing musicians.

A big dance on the roof of the Frances hotel, attended by nobles and their wives and dates, ended the one-day session.

Allies Brace For New Communists Assaults

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, Oct. 18 (AP) — American and South Korean troops astride key hill objectives on the Korean Central Front after five days of furious fighting braced today for new Chinese Communist assaults.

Action dwindled Saturday night on Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge, both north of Kumhwa, but Allied officers expected more Red counterthrusts on both positions.

U. S. Seventh Division troops seized Pike's Peak and broke the last Red hold on Triangle Hill earlier Saturday.

South Korean Second Division troops battling two miles northeast smashed three Chinese attacks and held two-thirds of Sniper Ridge.

AP Correspondent John Fujii at Sniper Ridge said the point held by the South Koreans dominated the northern end of the ridge. He said it may be possible for the ROK troops to control all of the ridge line without actually occupying the northern end.

Control of both hills was the objective of an Allied limited offensive which opened last Tuesday.

Swarming Allied fighter-bombers stabbed all day at Red front-line concentrations and re-inforcement areas particularly on the Central Front.

Far to the north, U. S. Sabre jets shot down two Communist jets over MIG Alley, the Fifth Air Force announced. The new claims boosted the number of Red planes destroyed thus far this month to 20, with one other probably destroyed and 22 damaged.

The Communists unleashed a ground - to - air rocket barrage, heavy anti-aircraft fire and at least seven night fighters in a futile attempt to drive off Superforts raiding a Red Army headquarters in Northwest Korea.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced the capture of Pike's Peak, the Reds' last stronghold on Triangle Hill.

It said Seventh "Hour Glass" division troopers attacked the peak at dawn under a creeping Allied mortar barrage that spread a deadly curtain of fire ahead of them. Once on top the Americans were brought under an intense Communist artillers and mortar barrage, followed by a Red counterattack.

The first Red attack was repulsed but the Chinese surged back two hours later and regained Pike's Peak—but only temporarily. The Seventh struck back once more and in an hour and 40 minutes of deadly close-quarter fighting won complete control.

At nearby Sniper Ridge, Correspondent Fujii said the South Koreans estimated they had inflicted more than 1,700 casualties on the Reds since Tuesday. The figure included 604 Chinese Red bodies found.

During the week ended Friday the Fifth Air Force reported eight planes were lost behind enemy lines, and two were shot down by Red jets. During the same period Sabres destroyed 10 MIGs, probably shot down one other and damaged two.

SPARKMAN WILL PAY VISIT HERE

Candidate For Vice-President To Speek At Neville Thursday

United States Sen. John J. Sparkman, candidate for vice - president, will continue his campaign trip now being made in the east, by arriving by plane in Monroe Thursday at 8 p.m.

He will be met by a group of prominent Democratic supporters, and will be conveyed with his wife, his daughter, and Democratic committeeman Frank Ellis to Hotel Frances and at 8 p.m. Thursday, will give a public address at Neville High School auditorium.

The Sparkman party has been campaigning in the east, having appeared for addresses in Williamsport and Wilkes - Barre, Pa. and elsewhere, and will now start to cover this area during the present week.

Democratic supporters are pleased that Sparkman is to visit Monroe and they state that so far as known no candidate for vice-president has in times past made a personal campaign visit here.

TRUMAN SAYS GOP RUNNING LOW CAMPAIGN

President Says They Use Same Propaganda As Dictatorships

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)— President Truman charged tonight the Republicans are running Dwight D. Eisenhower with the same sort of "man on horseback" propaganda that has led to the setting up of Communist and Fascist dictatorships abroad.

Truman said that at the instigation of a "lunatic fringe," Eisenhower and other GOP leaders are waging "one of the lowest street-gutter campaign that I have ever seen."

In a major address, prepared for a Brooklyn audience, the President went on to say:

"I don't for a moment suggest that the Republican candidate wants to be a dictator—or that the Republican party is planning to set up a dictatorship.

"But the public relations experts and the advertising agencies who are masterminding the Republican campaign have introduced these foreign techniques to sell their political products. And what I am saying is that these foreign techniques have no place in American political life.

"We do not want a man on horseback. When a man gets into politics he has to get off his high horse."

Truman slashed at Eisenhower in this vein after a day of New England barnstorming in which he said Eisenhower is being "cruel and deceitful" in leading American parents to think he could bring their sons home quickly from Korea.

SQUIRREL HUNT OPENS MONDAY

Season Will Reopen After First Attempt Failed

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 18 (AP)—State forester James Mixon, confronted by a continued critical forest fire situation, tonight renewed his appeal to hunters to be careful.

The Louisiana squirrel hunting season will open Monday, October 20 barring a change of decision by higher authorities.

Ninety forest fires were reported burning 600 acres of pinelands. The Florida parishes were the hardest hit with 22 fires, nine of them in Livingston Parish.

There were 95 fires on Friday. The situation has been critical for three weeks because of the continued drouth. Some areas have been without rain since May.

"Always look back after you have your bag limit and are ready to leave your hunting area. Look back and make sure the camping fire is dead out," Mixon cautioned hunters.

Mixon said that the forest fire danger always increases a thousand fold in hunting seasons because of the sudden influx of persons who ordinarily are not in woods.

"Although the average hunter knows more about caring for fires than other citizens," Mixon said, "he still increases the risk simply because he's there and any human being is apt to be careless."

Miners Urged To 'Put Common Sense First'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Board today cut 21 per cent from the wage increase won last month by John L. Lewis' 350,000 soft coal miners, raising the spector of an immediate industry-wide coal strike just two weeks before election.

Board Chairman Archibald Cox, a 40-year-old Harvard law professor, appealed to the "sound common sense of the coal miners and wisdom of their leaders" to abide by the decision. He said "a Congress elected by the people made wage stabilization the law of the land" and added:

"For both the miners and their leaders must know that freedom . . . cannot long survive when the supremacy of law is challenged by naked power."

But in Pittsburgh, John B. Busarello, president of District 5 of the United Mine Workers, predicted that there will be "a general walkout."

Since most miners do not work on the week end, he said, it is unlikely a full-scale strike will take effect until Monday.

A few minutes after the wage boards decision was announced, Economic Stabilizer Rogert Putnam said the board acted "with real courage" and gave the decision his full endorsement.

Putnam called the coal miners "patriotic Americans" and said he was sure the wage boost reduction is not too much of a sacrifice to make for "maintaining a sound, stable, healthy economy in a time of great international danger ".

But the government immediately moved in anticipation of an all-out coal strike and froze all shipments of soft coal from mines, so that, if a long strike occurs, the fuel can be channeled to consumers in most urgent need.

Officials said stocks of coal already mined, plus output from mines not expected to be shut down, are enough to keep most big industrial consumers supplied for 10 weeks. There could be spot shortages much sooner, it was added, especially among consumers who get their coal from retail dealers.

More than 150,000 soft coal diggers walked off the job this week in silent protest over failure of their October pay checks to reflect

GROWERS HOLD 1952 COTTON

Cooperate In Movement To Stabilize Falling Market

DELHI, La., Oct. 18 (Special)—A beltwide movement to stablize the falling cotton market by cotton producers holding their 1952 crops is becoming apparent, G. T. Hider, Lake Providence chairman of the Louisiana Delta Council Cotton sub-committee, announced today.

"Reports from Missouri, Mississippi, Memphis and Atlanta all agree that the holding movement in various forms is taking place and will ultimately reflect on the market," Hider said. Bankers, ginners and PMA offices are now receiving many inquiries from cotton farmers about the advisability of holding the cotton or putting it in the government loan," he continued.

Hider points out that the unusually speedy harvest of this year's crop has resulted in dumping cotton on the market at a more rapid rate than the normal demand can accomodate.

"Despite the unexpected increased government estimate of 14,413,000 bales on October 8," Hider emphasizes, "an overall analysis of the situation reveals that the supply and demand for cotton this season are potentially in balance."

Farmers have already been urged by Louisiana Delta Council, Commissioner of Agriculture Dave Pearce, Governor Robert F. Kennon and production and marketing administration officials to take part in an orderly marketing program in order to receive better prices for their crops.

A similar program in 1951 was successful in increasing cotton prices by approximately five cents per pound.

Louisiana Delta Council is acting in conjunction with other members of the beltwide cotton producers committee in order to secure the fullest possible cooperation of all farmers.

Ex-Navy Secretary Matthews Is Dead

OMAHA, Oct. 18 (AP)—Francis P. Matthews, U. S. ambassador to Ireland and former secretary of the Navy, died unexpectedly during a home town visit here today.

The 65-year-old envoy, Omaha attorney and prominent Roman Catholic layman, was stricken with a heart attack at 10:15 a.m. (EST) at his Omaha home and died a half hour later.

Matthews had been back in the United States since Sept. 16 but intended to return to Ireland next week. He disclosed only yesterday, however, that he would quit the post at the end of this year and return to Omaha, "the only place on this earth that I want to live."

Of Irish descent and a long-time friend of Ireland's Eamon De Valera, Matthews became ambassador at Dublin in July of last year after two years as Navy Secretary.

His appointment, May 15, 1949, to succeed Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan came at a time when many Navy men were fearing the service would suffer under the program of unifying the armed services, then inprogress.

Matt Cvetic's Talk Will Draw Big Crowd

Unusual interest has greeted the preliminary announcement that the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion, will bring here for a night lecture Undercover Agent Matt Cveltic, who worked for the FBI in ferreting out treacheries of the Communist party.

Time for the appearance here for a lecture has been set for October 28 at Neville High School auditorium. A capacity house seems assured.

Department Commander Henry B. Clay of Shreveport, has arranged for a similar appearance in that city of Mr. Cvetic on Oct. 27; Alexandria, Oct. 29; Baton Rouge, Oct. 30; Lafayette, Oct. 31 and Lake Charles Nov. 1. In this schedule the state will be pretty well covered through the efforts of Commander Clay in which Legion posts will be eager to cooperate.

A partial list of activities of Cvetic to show the extensive campaign that was waged is as follows:

1 — Gave the FBI names of hundreds of Soviet agents in this country, both alien and domestic. Also gave the FBI over 50,000 pages of reports, documents and exhibits.

2 — Area of activity covered western Pennsylvania, concentration area of the Communistic conspiracy and activities in New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington and the west coast.

3 — Exposed over 325 Communist party leaders in western Pennslyvania and other sections of the country.

4 — Turned over to the committee thousands of pages of testimony and documents in February,

New Deal Incubates Communism -- Hoover

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Herbert Hoover came out of brief political retirement tonight to describe the Democratic New Deal as an incubator of the Communist party in America.

He charged that in the first 10 years after New Deal recognition of Russia the Communist party in this country grew to six times its previous size—from 13,000 members to 80,000.

"And they were employed in the high levels of government," added the nation's only living ex-president, the last Republican to sit in the White House.

"There were no Communists in the Republican administration."

Hoover's prepared nation-wide television and radio address over the Columbia Broadcasting System interrupted what he called his "final retirement from political activities."

"I have done so at Gen. Eisenhower's request," he declared. "I have done so because I believe Gen. Eisenhower and the Republican ticket should be elected."

Hoover's self-styled retirement dates back to the GOP convention in Chicago last summer. He told the delegates then it was probably his last convention. Hoover said he was bowing to "the inexorable course of nature"—he is 78.

But he came back tonight, he said, with a detailed defense of the GOP record for the benefit of 40 million new voters, who came of age since he stepped out of the White House and left it to the Democrats.

He came back, he added, "to refute the myriad of falsehoods and misrepresentations in this campaign."

Hoover listed these criticisms and his replies as follows:

1. "That the Republican party is the party of privilege and the tool of Wall Street or 'big business.' "

Hoover recited legislation under Republican administrations such as the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, in-

With a can of the concentrate on hand in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator, the sauce is ready at a moment's notice. A twist of the can opener is all that is needed since the concentrate is used in undiluted form. Besides the lovely royal purple color and the natural grape flavor, the sauce has another advantage when used with the ice cream. It actually helps keep it from melting too quickly when on its way from the kitchen to the table.

The themes of his talks will be as follows: Thursday night, "Living in the Kingdom"; Friday morning "The Power of Love"; Friday afternoon, "The Power of Secrecy."

The following information is given by one of the group interested in bringing Reverand Brown to Monroe: "Many Monroe residents have had opportunity of Roland Brown's spiritual guidance in retreats and camps in many parts of the United States. All feel that in him there is great power for leading men and women into more constructive living and in helping them in the search for peace, radiance and harmony in these days of fear and tension."

"Roland Brown has been associated with men like Frank Labach, Glenn Clark, Starr Daily and the late Peter Marshall in an effort to lead people to a higher plane of spiritual living through the power of prayer and love. Last year his tour of England and the Netherlands was hailed by church leaders there as 'a revival that set the country aflame with redemptive grace.'

"The English press spoke of his meetings in such statements as: 'In 90 minutes service at the Warley Baptist Church an expression of faith was witnessed that surely must be an answer to empty lives and empty churches. He brought laughter to the service. He spoke of the power of prayer and demonstrated aids for living-the way to relax, to put aside the cares of the day.'"

He will come to Monroe from Baton Rouge where he will speak under sponsorship of the First Presbyterian, St. James Episcopal and First Methodist churches.

He will be accompanied by his wife who participated in the spiritual programs at camps, instructing in relaxation, recreation and regeneration.

The Tidelands Confiscation

Mr. Truman starts out on another whistle-stop junket Thursday morning to go up east and to the industrial areas. That he neither cares no worries about how we southern people think, should be obvious.

We believe he despises the south.

He will do anything he can to hurt the economic progress here in the south and if his candidate Stevenson is elected, the south, as the saying goes, will have a hard time rising again. Now, candidate Stevenson came south and said what his prepared speeches told him to say. He says that the federal government should control the tidelands' oil revenues.

Now let us see what this actually amounts to. It is the greatest piece of larceny ever committed against the states. What the administration will do is take the oil revenue and dole it back to the states any way they see fit.

Mr. Truman will say in Hartford, Conn., if his advance releases are correct and they generally are, is that Texas should no more have that revenue than any other state in the union. This would be an act of piracy which would easily compare with the worst ever committed on the Spanish main.

Why should New York or Rhode Island be entitled to revenue which belongs to Louisiana or Texas or Mississippi? Would they like us taking part of the revenue from their fishing industry, or their quarries or any other thing native to the respective state.

They would set up a howl loud enough to enforce the wearing of ear muffs in Moscow. Truman knows it, Stevenson knows it and so does Sparkman, wherever he may be.

General Eisenhower has shown us, on the contrary, that he knows these areas and their revenues belong to the states. He has made his point firm and final.

We need not worry about States Rights should Ike be elected.

The American people are dealing with desperate men in Mr. Truman and his followers. There's too much money and position at stake to lose.

They will try any trick short of actual subversion to keep this nation in their control. If the south votes for this group, it will be throwing its last vestige of independence to the winds.

Truman means to throttle the south, he shows it from every angle and pours it out in every speech.

If the south votes for Stevenson, he is simply voting for Truman and we should all realize this by now. Governor Stevenson is completely engulfed in the frightful morass which calls itself the Democratic party when it no more represents the true Democratic party than does Mr. Vishinsky.

Now, what does the tidelands issue mean to Monroe and West Monroe? It means money that the state would give our cities in new roads, new schools, hospitals, state welfare and other money that rightfully belongs in Louisiana and Ouachita parish, will be sent to New York, Rhode Island, Iowa, Nebraska and other points.

It means that we will, in order to build these roads hospitals, schools, have to go begging to the federal government and further increase our state debt there, we will be further down the line towards a complete centralized state.

The state will be losing more independence and this is exactly what the Truman confiscation plan calls for and it is a plan devised by men who are playing rotten politics with our important future.

If this aggregation is voted into office on November 4th, we will have only ourselves to blame when Truman ruins the prosperity we have so long tried to build up here in the south.

We will have only our consciences to look into when a man who runs a small plant has to go to a federal officer sent from some other section of the nation, and ask him who he can hire and fire.

We will have only ourselves to malign when the Communists in our government succeed in having this nation recognize Red China, a nation which has killed countless American boys.

So you see, there is a tremendous stake here in Monroe and West Monroe on the 4th of November.

Let's have a caucus with our consciences as Governor Shivers says and keep that group from wrecking our beautiful and great nation.

Let's vote Truman out of office and keep his power away from Ouachita parish and our very doorstep.

News For You

The American Magazine recently carried an editorial signed by John W. McTherrin, its publisher, called "Citizens: Your Retailers Have News For You!" He said, "Retail merchants in every section of the country are cooperating in a tremendous effort to see that every eligible voter goes to the polls and casts his ballot in November. More than 600,000 retailers are supporting the 'get out the vote' campaign of the American Retail Federation and its 56 affiliated state and national associations.

"This is civic enterprise of the highest order. It is in keeping with the public service always rendered by the small businessmen of this country. Druggists, hardware merchants, proprietors of department stores, and the host of other businessmen in your community, know you. They know that if more of you take an active interest in public affairs, we have a better chance for good government. They know, too, that nearly one - half of you failed to cast your votes in recent national elections. They hope this won't happen this year."

In 1948, only 52 per cent of the eligible voters troubled to go to the polls. Mr. Truman was actually elected by only 25 per cent of those with the right of franchise. This is government by minority with a vengeance.

The retailers of America have traditionally taken an active part in all kinds of worthwhile campaigns to make this country a better place to live in — and to maintain our freedoms. None has been or could be more important than their current drive to get out the vote.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

DENATURALIZATION

Residence in the United States for one born in this country is a right; for an alien, it is a privilege. Those born in the United States are citizens by Constitutional provision; those who are naturalized are granted a courtesy and a privilege. There seems to be a tendency for some aliens to assume that they have rights about living in this country, interfering in its affairs and becoming naturalized. They also imagine that once they receive their "citizenship papers," they are all set and have no further obligation to our country. It is all take and no give. They fail to realize that citizenship can be revoked as well as granted.

Attorney General James McGranery has raised two issues: one, that the citizenship of undesirable persons should be revoked and, two, that such persons as Charlie Chaplin, having left this country, must justify their desire to return to it.

The privilege of being an American is so valuable that the alien who abuses it ought to be relieved of it. In the matter of Frank Costello or Mrs. Earl Browder, Attorney General McGranery is correct that the privilege has been abused. As a matter of fact, the cost of imprisonment of alien gangsters and subversives ought not to be charged to the taxpayer; these people ought to be sent where they came from, or if their native governments reject them, they ought to be put on an island in the Bering Sea to gaze upon Soviet Russia where hooliganism and subversion are handled summarily.

Thousands of persons, ordered deported by our courts or by departments of government, remain in this country, free to do anything they choose, including the commission of crimes on account of which they were ordered deported, because no other government will accept them. This is an inefficient and, it would seem, even a stupid way of handling such undesirables. If ordered deported, they should be thrown out of the country to dwell wherever they can, or they should be put on an island. Actually, the deportee can laugh at our laws and our courts, because, in such matters, there are no means available to enforce the law.

As regards Charlie Chaplin, he has lived here for about 40 years, growing rich as a clown in the movies. He never became a citizen, which is his right, but he interfered in our political life, usually on the wrong side. His reason for being on the wrong side is that he claims that he is an internationalist and abhors nationalism, which is like saying one is for Stalin's kind of peace while our boys are being killed in Korea.

Chaplin might have made our soldiers laugh in World War I or in World War II or in the Korean War by clowning before them, but he chose not to do that, although many actors and actresses gave their time and even risked their lives in the war. Bob Hope, for instance, also originally an Englishman, never pled that he was an internationalist and therefore could not cheer the soldiers. We honor Bob Hope for his war services and many abhor Charlie Chaplin for his failure to serve.

This fellow has returned to England, not because he loves his native land, but to advertise a motion picture which he has made and which I shall never see. Maybe he will have a great send-off in England, such as he could not have had in New York. Attorney General McGranery proposes that when Charlie Chaplin attempts to reenter this country, he should show proof of his worthiness to live and work among us. The fact that he has lived here long has no bearing on the subject, because he chose not to become an American citizen and therefore enters like any other alien. The fact that he is an artist does not justify an arrogant attitude toward our way of life.

So, it is to be hoped that the Department of Justice will proceed with this case. I understand that the American Legion's Americanism Commission has passed a resolution concerning Charlie Chaplin, suggesting that the distributors of his new film hold it up until these pending matters are settled. The distributors may not choose to listen to the American Legion's advice, but I shall abide by their resolution.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons And His Washington Staff

WASHINGTON D. C.—The old political analysts are now convinced that the outcome of the 1952 election will be largely determined by the big city votes. That is one of the reasons they think that Dwight D. Eisenhower will be elected, in the face of factors which have been chiefly responsible for Democratic victories through the past twenty years.

The strong Eisenhower sentiment indicated in practically every important poll supports their conclusion, the analysts believe, chiefly because the earlier polls are usually taken in the cities, where the results can be more easily assembled, weighted and made public.

The weighting process is difficult in a year when urban sentiment swings strongly to one candidate. City people, including white collar workers, are definitely more in favor of a change of parties than folks in what the census bureau calls the "urban-rural" sections, meaning small towns and the farm areas.

To explain the outlook simply, the big city vote four years ago gave Presidet Truman an edge due to full employment, good wages, which at that time enabled the average family to save something, taxes which were not yet burdensome, and a general feeling of well being.

This time the outlook is quite different, though basically it does not seem to have changed much. With the exception of the Korean war, the city voter seems to be carrying a heavier load than the farm or small town element. He is hit harder by inflation, his taxes have reached the point where they limit his ability to keep his family budget balanced, and wages in a majority of cases have not kept pace with living costs.

Candidate Eisenhower has not made clear what he would do to remedy the plight of the city people, but they seem to lean toward him nevertheless. One of the principal indications is the increase in registration in white collar urban areas, where people vote according to their pocketbooks and pressure on the "pocket nerve" is more often than not blamed on the party in power.

In New York City, which leaders of both parties are watching anxiously because its vote might decide the election, the analysts' theory seems to be supported by large increases in registration in normally Republican assembly districts, which is believed to indicate that many New Yorkers who smugly thought in 1948 that Governor Thomas E. Dewey was a cinch, failed to register in that year and did not vote.

In the borough of Queens on Long Island where a large majority of the registrants are white collar workers of moderate income, typical big city workers, registration hit 78 per cent of the eligible voters, highest in the New York municipal area. Reports from similar districts over the country have Democratic leaders jittery over the possibility that many voters are convinced only a

Spotlight On Hollywood

By Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Behind the Screen: Don't censure movie pin-cushion geniuses because Hollywood no longer is setting fashion styles. Blame Hollywood's lack of "clothes horses."

"The screen's following the French styles," Oscar-winning designer Elois Jenssen said, "but it's not the fault of the Hollywood designers." Her reasons for a blackout of zippy movie wardrobes:

"Wardrobe budgets have shrunk to almost nothing. But the real trouble is that there are no stars left with authority to set styles. Jane Wyman's coming along and so is Anne Baxter. Marilyn Monroe's setting a fad for tight evening gowns and blue jeans. But there isn't a real zippy clothes horse in all of movietown."

Elois, the first movie designer to work on a telefilm series, is in charge of Ann Sothern's "Private Secretary' clothes. "I'm dressing her with a secretary's salary in mind," Elois said. "Her dress for the pilot reel cost only $35. But don't ask me what the alterations cost."

The screen's old master of the bathtub scene, C. B. DeMille, can start gnashing his teeth.

Hollywood's heroines always wear a little something to please the censors, but in the first Technicolor epic from India, "Aan," a 19-year-old counterpart of Yvonne de Carlo named Nadira wears absolutely nothing in a dunking sequence rivaling DeMille's lavishness.

Kissing is outlawed by India movie censors, but there's nothing in their film code about nudity. "So no one objected," Mehboob Khan, the film's producer, told me. "But she's photographed in good taste—the water is clear but covered with floating flowers."

The size of Nadira's tub may also startle C. B.—16 feet by 16 feet and eight feet deep. In Hollywood with Mike Frankovich to arrange for U. S. showings of the $3,000,000 film, Mehboob also will sign an American star for a Technicolor remake in India of "Woman," his prize-winning film of 1939.

Dignified Slapstick

There wasn't a two-ton Doman sarcophagus in sight, but Spike Jones, not to be outdone by the Marion Davies party for Johnnie Ray, sprang something big in his shindig for expectant Hollywood papas — Michael Wilding, who's married to Liz Taylor, and Geary Steffan, who's Jane Powell's mate.

Spike borrowed super-sized baby furniture used in an old Ginger Rogers picture—a 12-foot high chair, a King Kong-dimensioned bassinet and a nursery stool that would have dwarfed Buddy Baer —for his blush-gifts-for-the-daddies splurge.

And while movietown lensers aimed at them, Spike, Wilding and Steffan, wearing outsize baby caps and holding rattles, crawled into the bassinet for goo-goo poses. (At one point in the evening, an MGM press agent telephoned to warn the photogs against snapping undignified pictures.)

Reverse Compliment

Cary Grant's hailing television as "the greatest thing that's ever happened to Hollywood." But his reason is an eyebrow lifter that may have the video industry reaching for a brick to plant on his classic chin.

"Television has given us movie people distinction," Cary told me on the set of MGM's "Dream Wife." "It's put us up on a new level. We're no longer bums. The stage has always sneered at us, but we've never had anyone to sneer at. Now we have."

"Dream Wife" is a reunion for Cary, Dore Schary and Sidney Sheldon, the "Bachelor and the Bobby-soxer" combination. Sheldon wrote both films but this time he's directing his own script—"although I'm a little self-conscious about telling Cary Grant how to act."

Jane Withers, who was Shirley Temple's thorn in the side when both were kindergarten moppets, is ready to try for a movie career again as a grown-up comedienne.

As the wife of millionaire Texan Bill Jones, Jane retired from films five years ago to raise a brood and "decide whether I really wanted to go on with acting. I have the answer now. I'd like to do pictures again."

Jane goes to New York soon to sign a contract for 12 guest appearances on TV—"I'll sing and dance and do my impressions. But I insist on being grown up. My big problem is convincing Hollywood that I'm an adult."

The really productive ups and downs are getting up in the morning and getting down to work.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Something our forefathers thought they had done with forever has come upon us—military service for youth. For the third time in thirty-five years we are at war and our boys and girls are called to the service. What we may think about the whole matter does not serve us much just now. We have to face the ugly fact and deal with it as best we may.

Our chief concern is with those who know that they are likely to be called any day to drop their career employment or study and follow the call of the bugle. At work on a promising career, in college preparing for a profession, the nagging thought of war service underlies every waking hour. Some say, "Why bother? We haven't a chance to get anywhere in the circumstances. We may as well have as much fun now as we can. It may be our last chance." Many are confused and look right and left for guidance which is not always available.

The best thing for us all, young and old, is to realize that this day is our day and be it what it may, we must live through it and make it count for as much good as we can, good for ourselves and for all whose lives touch ours.

No good comes of giving up and saying, "What's the use?" A stout heart is what leads to success and happiness. It is better to use each day to the full for growth of mind and body. Wherever we go, life goes with us and we need to be strong and of good courage. We need to know all we can possibly learn about as many things as we can manage to cover. We need to enlarge our horizons, strengthen our soul, and above all, live the day bravely. Nobody understands the state of the world today, but we can all understand the need for clear heads and strong bodies and courageous spirits.

All that is happening to us now, has happened to others in days gone by. All that we enjoy in our country today, our free way of life, was bought at a great price. Men and women died to purchase it for their children and their children's children. everything we value costs sacrifice and pain and labor. We seem called upon today to re-purchase what we inherited.

Sadly we bow to the inevitable, firmly we resolve that somehow, some way, sometime, we shall make war impossible. Surely a people who have worked such miracles in science, mechanics, the professions; surely a nation that has built the greatest country on earth, is strong enough and intelligent enough to find a way to destroy this evil. That must be our next great triumph.

Does your child have difficulty with arithmetic? Dr. Patri has devised a way of learning the number tables by rhythm which is explained in leaflet P-5, "Number Tables." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

Washington Parade

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Future development of U. S. off-shore oil deposits may involve many hundreds of millions—maybe up to 100 billion—dollars. Nobody knows for sure how much oil is there or exactly where it is. That is what all the argument is about between the federal government and—principally—the states of Louisiana, Texas and California to determine ownership of underwater oil rights off these states.

much exaggerated information has been spread around, however, as to the present development of this off-shore oil. The oversimplified truth is that while the title is not clear, oil companies are reluctant to do much exploring and development.

Irrespective of the merits of the state and federal claims to ultimate ownership of this wealth, the total amount of accrued off-shore oil royalties is now estimated at something less than $100 million. The estimate has to be rough because there has been no accurate accounting.

The biggest share of this, around $50 million, is now held in escrow by Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, under an agreement between the federal government and the state of California. This money has been piling up since 1947. Present royalty payments are about $12 million a year.

This money comes from the one big development by the Signal Oil Co. and the Southwest Exploration Co., of the Huntington Beach field.

Texas has one Well Producing

Texas, which has perhaps taken this oil issue most seriously as a federal infringement on its sovereign rights, actually has only one tidelands well producing.

It is a Sun Oil Co. well brought into production at Caplan, near Galveston. The hole accidentally drifted some 750 feet off-shore as it went down, so it actually is tapping marginal sea oil rights.

Texas did make one big off-shore lease of 360,000 acres on the basis of a $7,200,000 bid and a $1-to-$5-per-acre rental per year, until the start of drilling. One year's rental of $500,000 was collected. But in the second year the leasing companies, feeling that the title was not secure, demanded a refund through a court suit and got it. So Texas has netted only about $8 million so far.

The operating company for this Texas lease is the Ohio Oil Co., of Findlay, O., acting for the Melben Oil Co., Plymouth Oil Co., and Superior Oil Co.

Because of the regular Texas coastline, marked by long sand islands from Brownsville to Port Arthur, there is said to be no particular problem in determining the boundaries of tidelands and marginal sea oil rights, if the federal government and the state were of any mind to settle. Louisiana, however, with an extremely irregular coast line, offers an entirely different problem.

Louisiana Has Coastal Rights

The federal government, through the Department of Interior, has issued maps showing what areas it considers under federal jurisdiction.

The federal government is willing to shut off all bay openings 10 miles or less across for Louisiana state ownership and development. Furthermore, the federal government concedes Louisiana's oil rights under Breton and Chandeleur Sounds, the 20-to-30-mile stretch of water between the east coast of Louisiana's mainland and Chandeleur Islands and other similar coral reefs. But beyond these coastal areas, the federal government claims title.

Magnolia Oil Co. has wells as far as 40 miles off-shore, way out on the continental shelf, operating in some 40 feet of water. Other independents like Kerr-McGee have wells 10 to 20 miles off-shore.

California Oil Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, and other producers operating off the Louisiana coast, have been paying royalties to both the state of Louisiana and the federal government. Since the Supreme Court decree of December, 1950, the payments to the federal government have amounted to $16 million.

If carried back to 1947, the amount due the federal government would be about $30 million. But no accurate accounting has been demanded, pending determination of federal-state boundary lines in the pending California case, which will probably set the criteria for Louisiana.

If it weren't for the family budget that you straighten out every pay day, what would you borrow from till next pay day?

MONROE'S TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Monroe, La.,
October 20, 1952.

For the past two or three years in particular, Monroe has been confronted with an acute traffic problem which of course has many other cities and towns because of the increased amount of automobiles now in operation.

First of all, I wish to make it specifically clear that I give the City of Monroe, the Safety Council, Traffic Police and all others concerned full credit for doing everything humanly possible to cope with the situation to the very best of their ability and in the interest and safety of the motoring public. And too, no one has appreciated their efforts any more than I. Nevertheless, in my opinion, the situation is getting worse instead of better and most every person has a different solution for it with our slang expression of what "orta be done."

Some want, no left turns — one way streets, no parking, lights synchronized — more stop lights or wider streets, and some don't seem to know what they want. And time goes on and the situation gets worse with the constant expression "Oh, this traffic."

I have always believed in respecting other people's rights of opinion on matters whether I agreed with them or not. So here is mine. Within the past eighteen months the city of Monroe, as has many other towns, installed so many traffic lights until it has gotten traffic almost completely paralyzed to a point that a motorist now cannot move much more than a short distance at one time without being tied up in a traffic jam. And I contribute such conditions as being responsible equally as much as the parking situation for forcing many businesses out of down-town business districts all over the country, and encouraging more community centers; Thus depriving the merchants who were once in on the ground floor, so to speak, of business they would otherwise get. It has become a task to operate an automobile in our city streets any more.

Even city buses are handicapped to operate on schedule any more because of traffic tie ups caused by stop and go lights.

I realize that many citizens will perhaps bitterly disagree with me on this issue, and say such an attitude as that is just radical folly. Nevertheless, check with the men who clean up the streets each day how much glass they sweep up under these safe green and red lights, also with the traffic department how many wrecks have occurred besides the lives that have been lost along with property damage, and then I ask if you think all green and red lights are fool proof, safety devices or in one sense—death traps?

I am wholeheartedly in favor of green and red lights in certain areas where they are amply needed for pedestrians to cross the street and at schools or where a reasonable amount of automobiles cross traffic exists. But placing red and green lights in outlying areas away from the main business section of town is only creating and adding to a traffic hazard. It seems to me that the more automobiles that there are on the street, then the more important it is to keep them moving. But instead under our present traffic system, it is kept halted and can't move.. Yet people wonder why.

Unfortunately the city blocks in downtown Monroe are too short for traffic lights at each intersection like almost exist presently because they cannot be synchronized or regulated properly.

Let me prove one of my points by asking this question. Did this so-called traffic bottleneck exist at DeSiard and Grand Streets before those stop lights were installed at Washington and Walnut Streets and at South Grand and Grammont Street? My answer is no, and it was because that traffic was permitted to keep moving and was not drifted to all collect at DeSiard at one time as is now. And conditions like this has in my opinion created bottlenecks all over the main business section of downtown Monroe.

I believe when any city or town has provided a red blinker stop light sign with a yellow caution—they have fulfilled their duty to its citizens for safety warnings in areas where this type of lights are applicable. And this is exactly what is needed for one example on Jackson St., especially on South side where many times from three to ten automobiles are halted at red lights with no traffic in sight on either side street, yet these cars must be drifted to all collect in down-town Monroe at one time to create traffic jams.

Those conditions exist in many other areas of Monroe where red lights are holding up and drifting traffic needlessly. You may ask how could anyone enter Jackson St. — but that's simple, as we all know, if only just one or two red lights exist on any congested street, it will most always provide sufficient gaps for side street traffic. I disagree with the idea of permitting any motorist to cross any congested street expecially like Louisville Avenue, which is a four lane highway without stopping. Many people advocate no parking on Louisville Avenue, but I can see no sound logic on this proposal. With the present traffic light system as it would only create four automobiles abreast in a traffic jam, as a rule, instead of two as is now, because it can't move at any intersection because of stop lights.

Two stop lights on Louisville Avenue, between the new bridge and Sixth Street would provide sufficient gaps at all intersections to cross Louisville Avenue safely.

Some cities have four way stop signs in certain areas, and Chicago, for example, which gives neither motorist a right-of-way over the other, and traffic is kept moving in perfect order, and this same system could be used in many sections of Monroe to relieve traffic tie-ups, but not on Louisville Avenue, however.

Bear this in mind: When a red and green stop light is installed and one motorist out of two violates the law, then a wreck is almost sure to occur. But with four way stop signs, then if one out of two violates the law, no wreck can possibly occur. With this system, it is still possible to designate either street the right-of-way street yet all cars must stop.

So in conclusion let me say, that I am still pulling for our Safety Council and Traffic Department, that they may be able to do their best for the solution of the traffic situation.

Yours Truly,
A Monroe Citizen.

NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK (AP) — I think it's about time we stopped all this careless slander, unfounded cliches and irresponsible talk.

About animals, I mean.

Despite the gossip you may hear, a cichlid remains extremely faithful to his fish-wife.

Among their own kind, wolves aren't particularly cruel or voracious.

A dove isn't especially peaceful. There is nothing more gruesome than a dove pecking another dove to death.

A fox is not so cunning. In fact, he's much more stupid than a wolf or dog.

Fish are not "cold-blooded." On falling in love, some fish dance and whirl madly, light up, change colors and generally carry on like a pinball machine hitting the jackpot.

These are some of the misconceptions I found righted in an amazing book called "King Solomon's Ring" (Crowell), written by Konrad Z. Lorenz, Austrian naturalist.

The roe-deer is not gentle. "One of the most disgusting, ruthless and bloodthirsty murderers," says Lorenz.

It is not the female but the male nightingale that sings so beautifully. The song is both a warning to other males to stay out of his territory as well as an invitation to any passing female.

A caged lion does not look as much like a caged lion as you might think. He is "about the laziest of the predatory beasts," says Lorenz, and seldom is seen pacing restlessly up and down a cage.

The lion, incidentally, gets that majestic look from the fact that as a hunter of large animals of the open plains he is forever studying things in the distance and ignoring items in the foreground. But don't get careless, if you happen to be in the foreground.

The eagle may be very proud but he's also very stupid. Even has trouble finding his way home. The "golden eagle" has less sense than a chicken. The American baldeagle is not particularly popular among tenants of large aviaries. He's "strong and horribly overbearing," says Lorenz.

Some of the world's most faithful dogs have wolf blood in them. Also, it's not cruel to keep a dog in a city apartment.

His happiness depends largely upon how much time you can spend with him and how often he may accompany you on an errand," Lorenz points out. "He does not mind waiting for hours at your study door if he is finally rewarded by a ten-minute walk at your side."

A shrew (a tiny, mouse - like mammal) is difficult to feed but not difficult to tame.

Wild geese fall in love at first sight.

"A tame crow or raven will no more think of pecking at your eye than he will at that of one of his own kind," Lorenz assures us, but hares are not particularly meek among hares.

Most people going to zoos, says the naturalist, don't pity the right animals. Foxes and wolves housed in small cages suffer terribly from frustration. Anthropoid apes can become literally "bored to death." Being caged is very hard on gray parrots and cockatoos since in their natural free state, they are mentally and bodily uncommonly vivacious."

Now, don't you feel like a skunk?

Peak Gift Shopping Period Cut For '52

A quirk of the calender for the approaching holiday season takes a four-day cut into the Christmas shopping period, usually beginning immediately after Thanksgiving.

Four days loss in shopping time must be crowded into the remaining period. Twin City merchants are preparing to handle the rush by getting their Christmas displays early.

Thanksgiving is making the big difference. A year ago Thanksgiving was observed on November 22. This year the same holiday comes around later, November 27.

Because of the late Thanksgiving date, merchandisers are preparing for an earlier start, Howard P. Abraham, sales promotion manager, in a New York trade magazine, said. Many have arranged to begin their Christmas promotion by November 15.

"November-December period accounts for 25 per cent of the year's volume and that this year, for many retailers, it will be the one chance to hold and increase their figures for the year," he said.

No one believes that Christmas volume will simply come down the chimney with Santa, he said, hard work and sound planning are needed to reach their goals.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, October 19.—Almost daily I pick up my newspaper and read about some movie company taking its cameras down to the slums, the prisons or the dumps to shoot scenes for a forthcoming picture — all in the interest of so-called authenticity. Some producers even go to France or Italy in pursuit of realism . . . but, while they set themselves up in the realism of a comfortable hotel, they too often train their lenses on the realism of further poverty and desolation.

I don't know how others feel on this subject, but I'd like to register a personal protest. I get enough realism on my morning and evening front pages, filled as they are with reports of murders and further depressing news. When I push my dollar across the movie theater box office counter I'm out to purchase some relief from all this knavery and unhappiness. I certainly don't want to go inside and get more of it — and on the giant screen, yet.

Granted, once in a while realism serves its purpose. Such films as "The Search" and "Shoe Shine" are memorable examples of fine screen art. But I don't want them as a steady diet.

I'd like to see a return to glamour in scripts as well as in personalities. I want to leave the simple, inexpensive sets and wardrobe and stories to television. I feel movies should concentrate on the grand, the gorgeous, the glamorous, the exciting. When I enter a movie theater I want to concern myself with the trouble in paradise. I'm not interested in a return to the soil or the life of the girl next door.

Right now I'd like to be in Betty Hutton's shoes. In "Somebody Loves Me" she plays the real-life of Blossom Seeley, the exciting songstress who revolutionized pops singing around 1910. Blossom wowed her audiences with a tremendous showmanship we rarely see today — and Betty has the good fortune to impersonate her on film. This is the kind of movie I want to see, even though it's based on fact. Its main characters are the glamourous folk of show business, and its settings are backstage and intimate — places where most of the general public seldom gets a peek.

Speaking personally for a moment, I have just completed roles in two pictures at Paramount which are pure escapist fare, the stuff that dreams are made of.

One is Nat Holt's "Pony Express," a big-scale presentation of that fascinating chapter in American history. I play a girl who becomes romantically involved with the famed Buffalo Bill, played by Charlton Heston.

The other is Pine - Thomas' "Rock Grayson's Women," a story of the south shortly after the War Between the States. It is filled with high adventure.

I'm glad to see what seems to be a swing in this direction coming up. I'm a sucker for Errol Flynn in any movie because I know I'll see the nusual, the swashbuckling. Give me Martin and Lewis in preference to semi-highbrow "Significant" comedy. I'd sooner watch Gene Kelly dance and hear Bing Crosby sing than see a dozen movies about broken marriages and people sick of mind and body. I get a genuine kick from science - fiction pictures. This is the type of entertainment we can get only from the motion picture studios. Anyone who has not had his fill of the grim realism can get it by spending a few days on Skid Row.

Now I'm not saying Hollywood should turn out nothing but comedy or musical fare. After all, the average man is not exactly a grinning idiot. He likes his quota of high adventure, as well as thought-stimulating celluloid, too. But he doesn't want to walk into a theater seeking relaxation and come out three hours later in a state of depression. Today more than ever he needs a laugh or diversion of the type to take his mind off the woes of the world.

"Escapist" was once almost a derogatory term. The pseudo-intellectual craved realism at all costs — and significance, too. But escapism has been proved commercially sound down through many centuries. It was so in the days of Scheherezade, who spun her tales through one thousand and one nights. It was so when William Shakespeare wowed the folks around Stratford-on-Avon with his "Much Ado About Nothing" and other divertisements. It was so during the 1930s when folks tried to forget their breadline woes in their neighborhood movie palaces.

And I say it's true today.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television is raising a new crop of cowboys to threaten the realm of Roy Rogers Gene Autry and Hopalong Cassidy.

A good example of the new breed is Bill Williams, handsome blond actor of many a movie. For a year, he has been heading 'em off at the pass as TV's Kit Carson. In some ways, he is no different from the traditional film cowpoke.

'I never get the gal, of course," he explained. 'In fact, I never get kissed, except by my horse. I don't drink, smoke or chew. I only shoot in self - defense. We make certain to show that the villain draws his gun first. And I never shoot to kill. I always nick him in his shooting arm."

Although he must adhere to these iron-clad rules for horse operas, Williams has some ideas of his own.

"I think there's Western pictures on TV," he remarked. "It's bad for kids. On the other hand, I think every kid should learn how to use his fists, for his self-protection. So whenever a scene calls for some violent action, I try to make it a fist fight instead of a shooting match.

"Another thing—I don't like those five-minute fights you see in Westerns. No fight lasts that long, especially with the kind of roundhouse punches you see in cowboy tussles. I think three or four punches are enough."

For a Brooklyn lad, Williams has learned a lot about being a cowboy. He picked up horsemanship by working in film Westerns and now does all his own stunts. He is aided by having been an adagio artist in vaudeville for 10 years.

The Kit Carson series is a tough grind, since each sequence is shot in two days, compared to three days for most half-hour Westerns. I asked him if he regretted taking on the grind.

"Not at all," he said. "My wife (Barbara Hale) was hesitant about it at first. But I figured I had nothing to lose and a great deal to gain. After all, if you can get the kids with you, you're in a good position. There's a whole new audience coming along every two years."

change of parties will help, however vague that reasoning may sound.

Another sigificant development has been that in some areas, polls show Governor Stevenson running behind incumbant candidates of his own party. That is attributed to the fact that the governor is not as well kown as the state and local Democratic candidates. In those instances, General Eisenhower is reaping the full benefit of his war record.

An unusual poll is that the Youngstown Vindicator, which in every major election takes a "first half" and a "second half" poll. It has just completed its first half computation, which shows Governor Stevenson considerably behind his Republican opponent. But the merit of dividing the poll indicated by the fact that the Democratic nominee at this stage is doing better than President Truman did at a corresponding point in 1948.

The Vindicator, accurate in the past to a percentage point or two of the statewide Ohio outcome, shows that Governor Stevenson is trailing Democratic nominees for governor and senator. Governor Charles P. Taft, the senator's brother, in the race for governor and Michael V. DiSalle, former federal price administrator, is trailing Senator John W. Bricker. The conclusion there is that Eisenhower at the moment is the beneficiary of many independent votes, which will support Democratic candidates for lesser offices.

The only encouragement the Democrats have in this and many other areas is that Stevenson stock seems to be rising, which could indicate that more independent and undecided voters are swinging to his side. He has a considerable distance to go in the remaining sixteen days of the campaign. But so did President Truman in 1948.

Says It Is Catholic Sin Not To Cast Vote

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—It's a sin for Roman Catholics not to vote, except under extraordinary circumstances, according to the Rev. Andrew Breines, columnist in the Catholic Herald-Citizen.

The newspaper is an official publication of the Madison Diocese.

Father Breines, in a column published yesterday, cited conclusions drawn by the Rev. Titus Cranny in a doctoral dissertation, "Moral Obligations of voting," at the Catholic University of American.

In the article cited by the Herald -Citizen, Father Cranny held voting to be an obligation of patriotism and legal justice "which places upon citizens the duty of promoting common good." And he said, "Catholics would commit a mortal sin if they failed to vote for a long time without justifying reason, or in an important election."

Failing to vote in an ordinary election without excusing cause would be a venal sin, according to Father Cranny's survey.

Two Newspapers Under Same Ownership Are Political Foes

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 18 (AP)—It's not at all uncommon for rival newspapers to sit on opposite sides of the political fence.

But it is unusual in Lexington, third largest city in Kentucky, where the same man owns both daily papers—the Lexington Leader and the Lexington Herald.

Rabid political partisans find it difficult to understand the peaceful atmosphere in the building from which both newspapers are published this year, especially.

The Herald's editor is a United States senator. The Leader is opposing his bid for re-election.

Six days a week the Herald beats the drum for the Democratic party. Six days a week the Leader carries the torch for the Republicans.

But on the Sabbath, when the newspapers merge into the Sunday Herald-Leader, they are neutral.

Fred B. Wachs, general manager of both newspapers, is Fayette County (Lexington) treasurer for the campaigns of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican nominee for president, and John Sherman Cooper, GOP candidate for U. S. senator. Under Wach's supervision publicity releases on Eisenhower and Cooper are sent to Kentucky newspapers.

But Wachs doesn't interfere with the Herald's support of its editor, U. S. Sen. Thomas R. Underwood, Democrat.

Meanwhile, the managing editors of the two newspapers—Herman W. Phelps of the Democratic Herald and Charles G. Dickerson of the Republican Leader—go their separate political ways. The separation is complete, straight down the line.

The owner of this politically conflicting newspaper enterprise is John G. Stoll, an old-line Republican. He is editor and publisher of the Leader and publisher of the Sunday Herald-Leader. Wachs is editor of the Sunday paper.

Wachs, who manages the papers for Stoll, explained the background of their dual political personality:

In 1937 Stoll, then owner of the Leader, bought the Herald from Lindsey Nunn and moved it into the Leader building, bringing along many of the paper's editorial and news staffers.

Wachs said the management made a verbal agreement with Underwood that the Herald would remain Democratic under his editorship, agreeing to give him a "perfectly free hand" in editorial policy.

The news departments of the two newspapers are entirely separate.

As a result of the merger, Wachs said the staffs of both dailies proved more aggressive than ever in digging out the news.

MORSE SAYS IKE IS REACTIONARY PUPPET OF GOP

Republican Senator Says He Will Vote For Stevenson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore) charged today that Gen. Eisenhower has become a puppet of reactionaries, and said he would vote for Gov. Stevenson.

Morse, who frequently has differed from GOP leaders, said last month that he had changed his mind about campaigning actively for Eisenhower. However, he had not announced he would switch his vote until today.

Eisenhower, the senator charged in a statement, has made "unconscionable compromises with the reactionaries in the Republican party" and "is not telling the truth" by denying it.

"Never have I been so completely disillusioned about any man as I am about Eisenhower," said Morse who stated he was the first Republican senator to support the general in pre-convention days.

"The Eisenhower I supported for the nomination," Morse continued, "is not the Eisenhower who is dangling and dancing from campaign platforms at the end of political puppet strings being jerked by some of the most evil and reactionary forces in American politics."

The 52-year-old senator said he wanted to be known hereafter as an "independent Republican."

His formal statement said nothing about Stevenson. But Morse in a subsequent press conference told newsmen he would vote for the Democratic nominee.

Morse pinpointed two reasons for the final breadk: (1) what he called Eisenhower's "surrender" in his Sept. 12 conference with Sen. Robert A. Taft, the defeated presidential aspirant from Ohio; (2) the final break (1) what he called didates whose re-election would threaten civil liberties and human rights at home and peace in the world."

'Dear Dorothy Dix' Out; Stahl Review Expected

Greeted by nation-wide advance interest, Harnett T. Kane's newest book, "Dear Dorothy Dix," was published last week throughout the country. The twelfth work of Louisiana's author of best sellers, this story of the life of the South's most famous woman already is attracting generous attention.

Mr. Kane's moving account of the "dean of women correspondents" will be reviewed by Annie Lee West Stahl, head of the Northeast State journalism faculty, for The Monroe Morning World of October 26.

"Dear Dorothy Dix" is the first volume to deal with the life of the "Mother Confessor of America," who died only recently in New Orleans after fifty years as adviser to the world.

Kane was assisted by Mrs. Ella Bentley Arthur, long time confidential secretary to Miss Dix.

The biography is the result of long and intensive study of Miss Dix's life. The author explained that it is "a book close to his heart," as he had his start in writing when he won the Dorothy Dix Prize as a sophomore at Tulane University, and knew his subject for twenty-two years afterward until her death.

"Dear Dorothy Dix" presents many of the remarkable letters which Miss Dix received, and her answers, in most cases, hitherto unpublished.

The book goes behind the scenes in the famous newspaperwoman's life, giving the full story of her tragic personal biography, which led her to say that "she knew every sorrow that could come to a woman."

Several book clubs have scheduled Mr. Kane for reviews of his work, and Helen Hayes may play the role in a stage production drawn from the biography. McCall's Magazine used about twenty per cent of the title in brief installments this summer.

The author is well known in the Twin Cities after many appearances here in talks sponsored by clubs, over radio and before groups at Northeast State.

Kane's previous works have sold several million copies in all editions and translations. He is the author of "Louisiana Hayride," "Plantation Parade," Bayous of Louisiana," "Queen New New Orleans," "Natchez," "Pathway to the Stars," "The Scandalous Mrs. Blackford," "Gentlemen, Swords and Pistols" and other works.

Professorships Set Up To Attract LSU Profs

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 18 (AP)—Distinguished professorships to attrack and retain outstanding faculty members at Louisiana State University were set up today by the board of supervisors.

Faculty members so honored will be called Boyd professors, in honor of David and Thomas Boyd, past presidents of the university, and given a minimum $1,000 salary raise.

"In no case shall their annual salaries be less than $9,600," the board ruled.

The distinguished professorship program was adopted to put the university in the market for outstanding men in all fields of learning and to hold and reward present teachers who have attained regional or national prominence.

"One way to reward a good man is to pay him enough and then tell the world about it," President Troy Middleton told the board.

Details of selection of outstanding faculty members will be worked out by the president and submitted to the board for approval.

A committee of faculty and administrative officers at the university studied the program and recommended that the following be taken into consideration:

Mention in "Who's Who" and other compilations of the great and near-great.

Membership and office holding in learned and professional societies.

Publications, monographs, papers, etc.

Work as an expert consultant to the government or industry.

Visiting professorships and lecturing at other schools.

Awards, medals, and other evidences of distinction.

The board approved gifts and research grants amounting to $164,000, of which approximately $118,000 goes to the medical school.

In other actions, the board:

1. Agreed to recommend to Gov. Robert Kennon and a special legislative committee the possibility of setting up a television station to be used by state agencies, whether educational or not.

2. Approved spending $3750 for a marine life acquatic green house on the campus and $4,000 for instruments and uniforms for organizing a band at the Francis T. Nicholls Junior College in Thibodaux.

3. Authorized the president to hire architects to draw plans for improving acoustics in the Agricultureal Colliseum. Estimated cost, $100,000.

4. Asked the president to look into the possibility of leasing the Westdale Country Club, university-owned golf course.

5. Agreed to study the need for a state school of veterinary medicine and publicized regional opportunities for pursuing this field in other Southern colleges and universities.

6. Told the university to go ahead with plans for a non-credit police training course for Louisiana peace officers. Estimated cost of first year of operating course in five North Louisiana cities, $18,000.

7. Decided to purchase a million dollars in insurance protection at a cost of $1500 against damages incurred in a building program for the university medical school in New Orleans.

Investigate Several In Mass Murder Case

CHESTER, Calif., Oct. 18 (AP)—Plumas County Dist. Atty Bertram Janes today said "several people" are being held for investigation into the slayings of a man and three children last week near here. Janes declined to say exactly how many were in custody.

The district attorney said "there are less than six" being investigated.

Only one has been identified. Janes said he is Martin Russell Ryan, Crescent Mills service station owner, held in Quincy, Plumas County seat.

Janes said he had contacted Jack Streeter, Reno, Nev., district attorney, in an attempt to have Louis Edmond Blair, who has been held in custody there for several days, submit to a lie detector test tonight.

"What we're doing now is checking Blair's alibi," Janes said. "and it (the alibi) is not getting any better."

"Some people have confirmed parts of it—others dispute it," the district attorney added.

Authorities have been working day and night to solve the robbery slayings of a man and three children the afternoon of Oct. 10.

Their bodies were found crammed into the trunk of an automobile on a deserted logging road the following morning.

Egyptians Arrest 20 On Charges Of Spying

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 18 (AP) — An Army spokesman said tonight an estimated 20 persons arrested Thursday night when Cairo newspaper offices were searched by Army - employed detectives are being held for participating in a spy ring.

Some of the arrests were made in the offices of the Societe Publicite Orientale which publishes one English language paper and two French ones.

"The arrested persons are being detained as members of a spy ring who were undertaking wide activities harmful to the integrity of the state," the spokesman said.

This was the first official statement as to why the arrests were made. Thus far no mention of the arrests has been published in Cairo.

Army headquarters earlier tonight denied reports from a usually reliable civilian source that the reform government of Premier Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib plans to abolish Egypt's monarchy.

An Army colonel told a reporter the idea of proclaiming a republic to take over from the regent-ruled reign of 9-month-old King Faud II never has been considered by authorities. The baby king is in Italy with his father, the abdicated and exiled King Farouk I.

The civilian source said Friday night the Naguib government would abandon the monarchy but declined to say when this might happen.

The Army spokesman countered with: "the present regime still believes a sound monarchy should be maintained in Egypt."

The Army spokesman denied reports that an American foreign correspondent had been arrested. The denial obviously referred to the search made in the apartment of New York Times correspondent Michael Clark.

we're "growing" more N at Dixie!

That's the big news at CSC—more nitrogen. A 20-million-dollar expansion program, now under way at our Dixie Plant in Sterlington, La., calls for doubling ammonia production and for providing the fertilizer industry with twice as much nitrogen as before.

Here, then, will be one, dependable, basic source for nitrogen in its three key forms—Anhydrous Ammonia, Nitrogen Solutions, and Ammonium Nitrate.

Anhydrous and Solutions are now being supplied the trade in quantity. Ammonium Nitrate will be produced by the new, exclusive Stengel process developed by CSC Research. Aiken Says Scare Placed Before Farm Voters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt) accused the Truman administration today of trying to scare farmers into voting Democratic with a threat of low prices for their crops.

He said in a statement this was of a pattern with the "false statements" of President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan four years ago that grain storage space was inadequate because of policies of the Republican - controlled 80th Congress.

Because of the "grain storage hoax," Aiken said, thousands of farmers were forced to sell their crop at ruinous prices.

Aiken, senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the Democrats this year are using a "five-pronged pitchfork on the farmers' back." 'in support of this, he said:

1. Brannan for two years has "requested production of price - breaking surpluses of wheat" and has done nothing to discourage overplanting of next year's crop despite diminishing exports.

2. Purchases of U. S. farm products for the foreign aid program have been practically stopped. "Whether they will be renewed after the election remains to be seen."

3. Heavy imports of oats have broken the American farm price "far below parity" and without any indication that the President plans to use his authority to regulate imports.

4. Brannan has failed to use the funds and authority given him by Congress to support non basic perishable commodities.

5. Brannan "let the price of hogs collapse last spring" because of unwillingness to use authority granted him by Congress in time. Aiken said the price of hogs again is wavering and that a simple announcement by Brannan that the price would be supported "could reassure the producers and conceivably save them from a disastrous decline."

Aiken said that "the farmers were hoodwinked in 1948 but they have no desire to sacrifice another billion dollars to promote the fortunes of the Fair Deal."

ARTIFICIAL HEART IN ACTION — The small black box with the glass tubes in the center of the picture is the machine that recently took over "complete function of maintaining blood supply to the body" of a 41 - year - old patient for 50 minutes at Harper Hospital in Detroit while the patient's heart was opened and worked on by surgeons. The mechanical device empties the patient's heart of blood enabling surgeons to use direct vision instead of "blind touch" in heart surgery. This picture was made while surgeons in the background tried the operation on a dog. Medical researchers said this was believed the first known instance of a patient's survival through the use of an artificial heart. (AP Wirephoto)

Testify Grammer Had Love Nest Reservation

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18 (AP)—An airlines representative testified today George Edward Grammer and Mathilda Mizibrocky were listed on the same flight to Chicago where Grammer had reservations for two at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Grammer, 35 - year - old office manager for a New York metals firm, is on trial for his life in the mysterious death of his wife Dorothy May, 33, mother of three daughters, on Aug. 19.

The state contends he beat her over the head with a piece of pipe and tried to make her death appear to be a result of an auto mishap so he could be free to marry Miss Mizibrocky, 28-year-old Canadian secretary at United Nations headquarters in New York.

A statement Grammer made to police officers and signed—he told the court he "made it up"—said he hit his wife with a piece of pipe after a half-dozen drinks when "she said something about my job being more important to me than she was."

It was one of four statements Judge Herman M. Moser admitted as evidence yesterday.

Mrs. Grammer was found dead, deep gashes on her head, after her car hurtled down a sloping Baltimore street and upset.

Ernest Lamarre, an airline sales representative in New York, said on July 16 he made the flight reservation for Grammer and also reserved a room for two from July 25 through Aug. 1 at the Chicago hotel at Grammer's request.

"Grammer told me later his wife couldn't make the trip, Lamarre related, but said he would have a companion along.

"About two or three days before the trip," Lamarre added, "we had lunch together. And he explained there was a woman he had met and she was going to spend the time with him."

Just before court adjourned until 10 a.m. Monday, State's Atty. Anselm Sodaro said he had only one more out-of-town witness to be called. It presumably is Miss Mizibrocky.

THE WORLD TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iran's Premier Mossadegh has had the distinction of punching a lion in the nose while kicking himself in the pants at the same time.

When he threw the British out and nationalized the Iranian oil fields last year he cut off his own country's main source of income.

But slugging the British lion like that was hot stuff in Iran where the people had long suffered from a feeling of national inferiority.

That sense of inferiority is one of the bases for the extreme nationalism that has seized the Middle Eastern countries, now that the old colonial powers like Britain and France are on the wane.

The evidence of Iran's plight is the extreme ignorance and poverty of most of the 18 million Iranians. In that sense they have nothing in common with the well-educated Mossadegh, one of Iran's biggest landlords.

When he became premier he knew giving the British the heaveho couldn't make him unpopular in the eyes of his people who had been steadily watching the weakened Britain lose respect and power in the Middle East.

He became a national hero overnight, the Iranian strong man, although for a strong man he was strangely given to fits of weeping and fainting when the going got tough.

Still, with their emotions and attention fixed on the spectacle of Britain humiliated at last, the mass of Iranians were diverted from the truly reactionary nature of their own government which had been doing precious little for the betterment of the people.

(Among other things they badly needed land reforms. Most of the land was owned by a comparatively few rich families. In a way this was a duplication of Egypt. There, defying the British distracted the people from the injustices of Farouk's feudal monarchy. They needed land reforms badly, too. It took an Army revolution to get rid of Farouk and bring the reforms.)

There was a bit of a gamble in what Mossadegh did. He knew the West badly needed oil. So it must have seemed likely to him he could settle on his own terms.

It became clear at thime passed that he had underestimated the British or had been operating more on personal emotion than on long-range planning. Instead of being able to proceed with Iranian development and sale of its own oil, he discovered a couple of unpleasant facts of life:

The British were able to set up a boycott against Iranian oil; and development of oil elsewhere was stepped up to offset the loss from Iran.

And, as time went on, Iran began to suffer. The royalty paid by the British for the oil taken from the country had made up at least one third of the Iranian government's total revenue. when the ousted British stopped paying the royalty, the Iranian government, economically, was hurt.

This week stories from Iran indicated Mossadegh may have started to lose some of his support. Yesterday he broke off relations with Britain. What now?

Murray Says Workers Are Behind Stevenson

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said tonight that if Gen. Eisenhower is elected president and the Republicans gain control of Congress "a blitzkrieg against labor will start—make no mistake about it."

In a prepared speech to Dist. 19 of the United Steelworkers of America, Murray said the Democratic ticket led by Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman will get "in overwhelming number, the votes of men and women who value the progress of the past, who want a constantly improving America—an America in which every segment of our population will share the benefits of our productive genius and our Democratic traditions."

Sharply assailing the Republican record in Congress on the Taft-Hartley Act, which he described as "clear and ugly," Murray added:

"When they (the Republicans) ask us to 'look ahead,' I can see, on the basis of record, just what they have in store for us . . . A fierce and terrible onslaught on the basic human rights of American workers . . . so the big business organizations are 'looking ahead' with glee to the prospects of a Republican administration."

Maternal, Infant Aid Group Has 116 Cases

A report of welfare services rendered through the Monroe Maternal and Infant Welfare Clinic for the month of September was made to the board of directors of that organization at their regular monthly meeting.

It was disclosed that for the month of September, 116 expectant mothers, and imfants up to six weeks of age had reported to the clinic for prenatal and postnatal care. Twenty of this number were new cases admitted during September.

The clinic is conducted every Thursday morning beginning at 8:00 o'clock at the Health Center.

It was reported that one emergency delivery called for special medicines, not provided for in a normal delivery, and a fee for special medical need which was provided from welfare funds set up through the Maternal Clinic.

Miss Mary E. Campbell, chairman of the board, stressed the fact that the clinic cooperated with other welfare organizations where there was a need of maternal requisites, two such cases having been referred by the Salvation Army.

The clinic was organized in 1937 and is sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America with its aim being to cut down the mortality rate of both infant and mother through proper care and to help preserve the right of every family to a mother.

ADLAI BIDS FOR TEXAS SUPPORT

Says Vote For Eisenhower Would Be 'National Tragedy'

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 18 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared today it would be a "national tragedy" if Texas cast its lot with GOP nominee Dwight D Eisenhower in the Nov. 4 presidential election.

Winding up a two-day campaign in the Lone Star State, the Democratic candidate for the White House told a cheering crowd at an outdoor rally in the Civic Center:

"I don't think the people of Texas will be fooled by the promises of carpet baggers and fair weather friends. Texans know them for what they are—the faint of heart, the friends of reaction, the men of little vision ...."

Calling for repudiation of Gov. Allan Shivers and other Texas Democrats who are backing Eisenhower, Stevenson declared:

"It would be a national tragedy if Texas—the very citadel of the idea of freedom of the seas, freedom to trade, freedom for America to walk her way in the world, not alone but with others—now cast her vote for contraction, timidity, indecision and isolationism."

The reception the Illinois governor got in Ft. Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and here in Houston regulars like House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas predicted the state will remain in the Democratic fold at next month's election.

In Houston, Stevenson took obviously delighted note of an announcement by Republican Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon that he has decided to vote for Stevenson. Morse said he never had been so disillusioned with a man as he has been with Eisenhower.

Stevenson got out a statement saying;

"I am naturally gratified by the news of Sen. Morse's decision to change his vote from Gen. Eisenhower to me. I am especially pleased because I have long admired Sen. Morse as a forceful and independent public servant who puts principle above party.

"The course which the Republican campaign has taken must be clear to other like-minded Republicans, and I am encouraged to believe that many are coming to the same conclusion as Sen. Morse."

FAMED RABBI 'SHOCKED' AT TRUMAN CLAIM

Zionist Leader Scores President For Accusations Against Ike

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—One of the nation's most prominent rabbis expressed shock today at what he called an attempt by President Truman to identify Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower with anti-Semitism and anti-Catholicism.

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland made the comment to newsmen after conferring with the Republican presidential candidate at Eisenhower's Morningside Heights home here.

The rabbi, Zionist leader, was referring to a message that Truman sent to a meeting of the National Jewish Welfare Board in Washington yesterday.

Truman said in the message that Eisenhower had suffered "an attack of moral blindness, for today he is willing to accept the very practices that identify the so-called 'master race' . . ."

The President said that Eisenhower had embraced former Sen. Chapman Revercomb, West Virginia Republican, whom the President called the champion of "anti-Catholic, anti-Jewish provisions of the original D. P. (displaced persons) bill . . ."

Rabbi Silver was asked by newsmen whether he and Eisenhower had discussed Truman's comments. The rabbi said they had, and he added:

"I expressed my feelings of shock that an irresponsible statement of that character could be made.

"Much is permitted in the campaign but the attempt by implication to identify a man like Gen. Eisenhower, whose humanity and broad tolerance are known all over the world, with anti-Semitism and anti-Catholicism is just not permissible, even in the heat of a campaign."

Pearl's Condition Described As Good

BOSTON, Oct. 18 (AP)—Eight year old Pearl Simon of Vermilion, La., played smilingly with a toy teddy bear today as she recuperated from a heart operation she had dreamed would kill her.

Children Medical Center officials said she was resting comfortably. On a liquid diet, she is taking fluid in sips.

Surgeons who operated Friday to correct a leak between the two blood vessels leading from the heart said that barring complications Pearl should achieve normal health.

Her father, Albion Simon, a rice farmer from the bayou country, plans to stay with her until she is well enough to return home. He came to Boston after Pearl had her frightening dream and convinced her she should undergo the operation.

The girl's trip was financed by a $3,000 fund donated by Louisiana friends and neighbors after doctors said she could live only about four years without surgery.

Bible Comment

WHAT JESUS TAUGHT ABOUT PRAYER

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Lord's Prayer, as recorded in Matthew 6 and in Luke 11, and translated in the commonly used Authorized or King James Version, has variations in the petition regarding forgiveness that lead to some confusion in the public use of the Prayer.

In Matthew 6 the petition is rendered, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." In Luke 11 it is, "Forgive us our sins; for we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us." However, in recording the comment of the Master, emphasizing or enforcing, the petition, in Matthew 6, there is the mention of "trespasses." There is a similar reference in Mark 11:24-26, apparently drawn from the Lord's Prayer, though Mark does not record the Prayer as a whole, as do Matthew and Luke.

The differences are unimportant with regard to the meaning of the Prayer, its clear implications, and its use by individuals. The confusion arises in its public use, and recitation. This possibly chiefly affects visiting ministers conducting services, who may forget to inquire before the service whether the congregation uses "trespasses" or "debts."

In my personal ministry I have been very definitely aware of this. About half my years of ministry have been in various pastorates and the other half in editorial work. In this latter half, and in considerable travel my contacts, chiefly with Congregational Churches, have been fairly wide.

I figured recently that in all I have preached and conducted the service in some two hundred churches. In these the hymn book commonly, though not universally in use, has been the Pilgrim Hymnal. In its printing of the Lord's Prayer in the various orders of service the word 'trespasses" is used though in at least nine out of ten of these churches the congregation recited "debts" in the Prayer.

In the Protestant Episcopal Churches the universally used form is, "Forgive Us Our Trespasses," and this use has been widely influenced by the Church of England Book of Common Prayer. I used that form during my Congregational ministry in Canada. It is this form, also, that the late Dr. Lloyd Douglas gave to one of his books. "Forgive Us Our Trespasses" is probably the least known and least read of his books; but I consider it the best thing that he wrote, despite the initial success of "The Magnificent Obsession," and the best-selling, "The Robe."

Various correspondents have asked me about this variation in the use of the Lord's Prayer and though my comment settles nothing it may offer some explanation. The fact that in the latest translation of the New Testament to which that of the Old Testament is about to be added, the word "debts" is used, may have considerable influence upon future publications and use in the churches associated with the National Council of Churches which has sponsored this translation.

Natchez Democrat To Support Eisenhower

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 18 (AP) — The 85 - year - old Natchez Democrat, which has never supported a Republican candidate, will announce its support of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for president tomorrow.

A front page editorial will declare that the Democrat cannot "with a clear conscience subordinate what we think to be the best interests of Mississippi, the South and the nation to the demands of party unity."

In 1948, the Democrat supported the States Rights movement.

"In the intervening four years," the editorial will say, "we have been driven irrevocably to the conclusion that the States Rights movement had no restraining effect whatsoever — either upon the national or state leadership of the party.

"If anything, it has served only to goad those in positions of influence to being farther to the left until today the control of the Democratic Party is in the hands of men who put partisan politics above their country and who, while calling upon us to fight the foreign threat of Soviet communism, would take us down the same road to despotism by forcing upon us a welfare state system that differs from communism only in name and degree."

The editorial will accuse Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, and Mississippi political leaders of abandoning the fundamental doctrines of the party, saying:

"The former has subscribed to the anti-Democratic belief in big government and the latter have betrayed Mississippians by going to the Chicago convention pledged to States Rights and returning under pledge to kill the movement."

The editorial will predict that under an Eisenhower administration "we'll all witness a great revival of freedom, a gradual solution of our foreign problems and economic stability based on something more than war and defense expenditures."

SEGREGATION IN ARMED SERVICES IS ON DECLINE

Anna Rosenberg Says Elimination Of Color Line Proceeding Steadily

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna M. Rosenberg says elimination of segregation in the armed forces is proceeding at a steady pace.

She gave a summary in a letter made public today by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn). Humphrey said in a statement he has been impressed "with the steady determination to eliminate segregation once and for all in the armed forces."

"In some areas progress has been slow," he said, "In others satisfactory, but I am convinced that in most cases the change has been to the good."

Mrs. Rosenberg said:

1. Since March, 1951, integration has been accomplished in all training divisions and in replacement training centers throughout the United States.

2. In May, 1952, the Far East Command completed the process of integration, including the discontinuance of racial designations previously applicable to certain units.

"These are two highly significant advances," Mrs. Rosenberg said.

"In the Alaskan, Austrian and European commands, programs of gradual integration have been initiated and are being progressively implemented.

"In the continental United States, integration is nearing completion in the three regular Army divisions and many non-division units, regardless of geographical locations.

"At the present time, the number of all-Negro units in the Army is approximately one - third less than that of May, 1951 and the decline is continuing."

She said the secretary of the Navy in 1949 stated it was the policy of that branch that there shall be equality of treatment and opportunity "for all persons in the Navy and Marine Corps without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

HILLTOPPERS OUTSCORE NORTHEAST, 41 TO 27

REDSKINS TRADE SCORING DRIVES FOR 3 QUARTERS

Passing Of Jimmy Feix Finally Weighs Down On Tribe

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 18 (Special)—The undefeated Western Kentucky Hilltoppers ran into an underrated Northeast Louisiana State eleven here tonight and, after swapping touchdown for touchdown for nearly three quarters, finally pulled ahead to stop the Indian threat, 41 to 27.

The Hilltoppers, notching their fifth win of the season, jumped into an early 14-0 lead, but Northeast hammered back to tie the score in the second period. Then with a minute left in the half, a bad punt gave Western a break and the Hilltoppers promptly scored to command a 21-14 edge at the half.

Little All-America Jimmy Feix of Western Kentucky pulled the game out of the fire for the Hilltoppers with his fancy passing and long runs although the Redskin defense five times spiked the air game of Feix with interceptions.

It was one of the hardest fought games seen here this year, and the Louisiana eleven showed one of the hardest blocking combinations the Hilltoppers have run up against all year.

Feix twice fired touchdown passes that brought the Hilltoppers added advantage, one a seven-yard pitch to Mack Stevens and the other a rifle shot to Jack Binkley. Other Feix passes set up touchdowns.

Gene McFadden plunged 14 yards through center to open the scoring for Western, and Stevens picked up one on a four-yard dash around right end. Stevens counted again from one yard out in the third quarter, and Ray Nutter completed Western's touchdown parade on a 13-yard end run.

Northeast showed a mighty classy passer in Quarterback Lloyd Ray who just about overshadowed Feix in his specialty as the Redskin arm also threw two touchdown passes, one to Bob Gunter and another to Jack Brown.

Other Northeast touchdowns were added on a 20-yard dash by Ed Plonsky, a little Indian who showed lots of spunk, and Press Berry, a hard driving back who got his TD on an eight-yard buck.

Mark Boatright kicked three conversions for Northeast while "Whitey" Sander added five for Western Kentucky.

Northeast capped the game with a thrilling 80-yard march that had partisian Western Kentucky fans giving the Redskins well-deserved cheers for their never-give-up brand of play. The game ended with Northeast Louisiana just three feet short of paydirt.

GOPHERS SPRING UPSET ON ILLINI

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1 (AP)—An underdog Minnesota team turned back the pages of history 28 years today as it upset Illinois, 13 to 7, by scoring a last period touchdown on a third stringer's alertness.

With the score tied 7-all in the final frame, third string Quarterback Larry Schmitt intercepted a pass thrown by flashy Tommy O'Connell and brought it back to his own 45. That was the break the Gophers needed and they went all the way to score.

Mel Holme, hard-driving Minnesota fullback, ripped 21 yards through the sagging Illini line in four plunges to spearhead the assault. Shortly afterward he cracked through the vulnerable left guard post for four yards and the winning touchdown midway in the period.

Illinois was able to get the ball for only eight plays in the remainder of the session and that wasn't enough.

O'Connell, who completed 11 of his first 12 passes and 11 of 14 in the first half, had ten of his 16 later attempts batted down. He piled up 196 yards with 17 completions.

Score by quarters:

Illinois	0 0 7 0— 7
Minnesota	0 7 0 6—13

Illinois scoring: Touchdown, Duke, Conversion, Miller.

Minnesota scoring: Touchdowns, Cappelletti.

German Boxer Ten Hoff Looking For U. S. Bout

NEW YORK O,ct. 18 (AP)—Hein Ten Hoff, former European and German heavyweight boxing champion, arrived today hoping for a series of fights in this country.

Ten Hoff, who arrived on the ship Italia, said he did not know who he would fight but that he would like to meet former world heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott again. Walcott outpointed Ten Hoff in a fight in Germany in March, 1950.

Ten Hoff, 32, lost his European title to Karel Sys of Belgium last January and also dropped the German title when he was knocked out in the first round of a scheduled 15-round bout last July by Heinz Neuhaus.

UCLANS ADVANCE NEARER TO BOWL

Help Cause With 24 To 14 Triumph Over Stanford

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18 (AP)—Paul Cameron threw three touchdown strikes to send the U. C. L. A. football machine smashing through a rugged road block toward the Rose Bowl today with a 24 to 14 triumph over the Stanford Indians.

Playing before 80,167, largest crowd of the year out here, the Bruins racked up their fifth straight win of the season. It was the first defeat for the Indians, who carried the Pacific Coast Conference hopes in the bowl last year.

Cameron,, the U. C. L. A. All-America candidate, threw two scoring passes to End Ike Jones, one for 43 yards, the other for two, and then cinched the final decision with an 8-yard toss to Halfback Don Stalwick.

The 6-foot, 185-pound bomber left the game for good after one series in the second half, apparently reinjuring an ankle that had kept him out of action most of this fall.

Score by quarters:

Stanford	7 0 7 0—14
U. C. L. A.	7 14 3 0—24

Colorado Nips Iowa St. 2nd Half Push; Win 21-12

AMES, Ia., Oct. 18 (AP)—The Colorado Buffaloes stopped Iowa State's second-half drive today to defeat the Cyclones, 21-12, and keep alive their hopes for a share of the Big Seven Conference title.

The Iowa State homecoming day crowd of 15,000 sat in silence as Colorado easily converted three weak Iowa State punts into first half touchdowns and the winning margin.

The Cyclones, behind sophomore quarterback Bill Plantan, marched back smartly in the last two periods to come within nine points of tying the game.

Dartmouth Noses Past Rutgers By 29 To 20

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 18 (AP)—Dartmouth's victory-starved Indians hit the war path for a 29-20 triumph today over a winless Rutgers football squad that never was out of contention although it trailed from the fifth minute on.

The Big Green victors built a 9-0 first quarter edge that was the eventual winning margin, but over the last three quarters the scoring was even as Jack Jeffers, unsung third string Rutgers quarterback, completed 11 of 20 passes for 167 yards.

Bandits Crash Private Party, Lift $100,000

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18 (AP)—Five bandits, wearing polka dot masks and armed with machine guns, held up and robbed 50 party guests at the home of Nashville architect Francis B. Warfield of from $100,000 to $150,000 in money and jewels tonight.

Tennessee state police said the bandits herded the guests into the basement of the home in Belle Meade and locked the door before fleeing. The guests said the robbers wore gloves.

INJURY PLAGUE RIDDLING 'CATS

Winnsboro Now Without Bankston Who Has Leg Fracture

WINNSBORO, La., Oct. 18 (Special)—The wave of injuries that have been sweeping through the ranks of the undefeated Winnsboro High School Wildcats claimed toll again Friday night at Crowville as the 'Cats won their sixth in a row by beating the Bulldogs, 18 to 0.

Latest victim is Tommy Bankston, senior halfback-fullback-tactackle, whose high school career ended with a broken leg in the third quarter of the game.

Only last Thursday, Frank Cheek, a guard, suffered an ankle fracture in practice. Earlier in the season Tackle Earl Huff was sidelined with a shoulder injury, and Fullback Phillip Cobb suffered a broken arm.

Coach Phillip Poole had promoted 132-pounder Harold Moore to Huff's tackle job, moved Douglas Robinson to guard, and had Bankston, a regular halfback, working at Cobb's old fullback slot. On defense, Bankston had been operating at tackle to offset the injuries.

But early in the last half last night Bankston cracked through right tackle for 14 yards and a first down. He couldn't get up after being stopped. His right leg was broken. Thus Coach Poole lost the man he had been leaning upon heaviest to fill gaps caused by the loss of Cobb and Huff.

Winnsboro now averages only 147 pounds as a team, 150 in the line. Huff was a 113-pounder. Bankston weighed 165, Cheek 166, and Cobb 168.

The Wildcats' next three games will be with Class A conference foes, starting with LaSalle of Olla next Friday.

TEXAS A. AND M. EARNS T. C. U. TIE

Aggies Tally In Last Period To Get 7-7 Deadlock

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Oct. 18. (AP)—Texas A. and M. rolled 83 yards in the final period for the touchdown that tied Texas Christian 7-7 in a bitterly fought Southwest Conference football game today.

Bouncing back from last week's crushing 48-6 defeat by Michigan State to fight furiously every minute, the Aggies came from behind on the flying feet of Connie Magourik, who led the Cadet pay-off charge in the lengthening shadows.

It was all the Aggies could do to tie dandy Ray McKown, the one-man riot of the Texas Christian backfield, who crashed and smashed for 135 yards on the ground, passed for 42 and spearheaded a T. C. U. drive that rambled to the Aggie 27-yard line with three minutes to go. But the battling Aggies braced, took over and that was the ball game.

It was McKown who swept the Horned Frogs to their touchdown in the second period. The drive stretched 80 yards with Quarterback McKown shifting from the double wingback formation with which T. C. U. had started to the Meyer spread with a variation Fullback Mal Fowler crunched over from the Aggie one-yard line for the score and Johnny Crouch converted.

The Aggie touchdown was made by Magourik in two mighty blasts from the Frog five-yard stripe. Darrow Hooper kicked the extra point. The powerful Magourik made 38 of the 83 Aggie yards in the crushing surge.

Score by quarters:

Texas Christian	0 7 0 0—7
Texas A.&M.	0 0 0 7—7

Texas Chrisitan scoring: touchdown—Fowler; conversion—Crouch

Texas A. & M. scoring: touchdown — Magourik; conversion—Hooper.

Southern California Makes Oregon State 5th Victim Of Season

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18 (AP)—Unbeaten Southern California rolled to its fifth victory of the season today with a 28-6 decision over Oregon State.

Oregon State proved unexpectedly tough in the line, and it was the speed of the Southern California backs that brought the victory.

They were so much faster than the Staters, however, that it was no contest after the first few minutes when Oregon State recovered a Southern California fumble and scored for a brief 6-0 lead.

Before the first period ended, though, Southern California was out in front 14-6. A 51-yard pass play brought the first touchdown, then the visitors converted an Oregon State fumble into a second score.

TEXAS RAVAGES ARKANSAS, 44-7

Slippery Gib Dawson Sets Fast Pace For Longhorns

AUSTIN, Oct. 18 (AP) — Slippery Gib Dawson regained his 1951 running form today to lead Texas to a devastating 44-7 victory over Arkansas.

The conquest of Arkansas got Texas off to a good start toward the Southwest Conference title which many have picked Texas to win.

Apparently uncertain of which of its many offense patterns to use, Arkansas gave up almost any hope for the championship by dropping its second league contest in three starts.

Dawson, a 175-pound senior who led the conference in scoring last year, had not crossed the goal line in the first four games this season.

He started making up for lost time in a hurry, rocketing through the line and around end for the first three Texas touchdowns. He also banged his toe into the ball for six straight extra points to finish the day with 24 points.

With a field goal and four conversions in previous games Dawson now has rung up 31 points in 5 games, exactly half his record for last year.

Big Dick Ochoa, Texas fullback, also hit paydirt for the first time this season, pounding over from the one in the second period to give Texas a 28-0 halftime lead.

Arkansas pushed 69 yards in the third period, Murray Elton scoring on a 6-yard dash around right end. Carl Mazza converted.

Texas Quarterback "T" Jones and substitute Halfback Larry Graham each hit for one yard and touchdowns as Texas ground down Arkansas in relentless fashion.

Score by quarters;

Texas	14 14 7 9—44
Arkansas	0 0 7 0— 7

Texas scoring: touchdowns—Dawson 3, Ochoa, Jones, Graham. Conversions—Dawson 6; safety—St. Pierre (tackled by Sewell).

BADGERS SMASH HAWKS, 42 TO 13

Wisconsin Rebounds At Expense Of Iowa In Big 10 Tilt

IOWA CITY ,Ia., Oct. 18 (AP)—Wisconsin, its pride tortured by Ohio State only last week, turned its cold fury on Iowa, 42-13, today to get the Badgers back in stride in the Big Ten football race.

Knocked from the nation's No. 1 ranking and its Rose Bowl hopes jarred by the 14-23 loss to Ohio, fumbling Iowa team with a smashing offense and a defensive line that held the helpless Hawks to a net gain of 23 yards by rushing.

At that the Badgers needed a bit of needling to get their offense under way. The stimulus came from Iowa safety Bernie Bennett who returned a pung 63 yards for a touchdown in the first period.

That sideline spurt jolted Wisconsin into reality and its potent line, led by Ends Jerald Wuhrman and Don Voss and Guard George O'Brien, and an alert secondary didn't let Iowa score again until late in the final period.

Wisconsin scored six touchdowns and showed no favoritism as to the method. Three came on passes and three on the ground. Freshman Paul Schwaiko, kicking from the 17 yard line, chipped in with a field goal and added three conversions.

Score by quarters:

Wisconsin	7 10 13 12—42
Iowa	7 0 0 6—13

Wisconsin scoring: touchdowns, Peters, Witt 2, Ameche, Gingrass, Hutchinson. Conversions, Scwaiko 3. Field goal—Schwaiko (placement).

PENN OVERCOMES COLUMBIA, 27-17

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (AP)—Powerful Pennsylvaina, passed Dizzy for three quarters by Columbia's Mitch Price, roused itself for two sledgehammer blows in the final period today to smash down the inspired Lions, 27-17, in an Ivy League football game.

Glenn (Bones) Adams, a triple threat quarterback, and Donald Zimmer, a bull-like line-wrecker, rallied the staggering Penn forces in the final minutes to stave off an impending defeat.

The first of two last period scores came on a 65-yard drive, mostly on land, which was culminated when the hard-running Zimmer plunged over from the one. The second, snuffing out Columbia's last hopes of an upset, was produced with a minute and 16 seconds to play on a nine-yard pass, Adams to stout Bill Deuber.

Until that moment the crowd of 20,000 in Baker Field sensed that Price, bringing back to Columbia fans memories of Sid Luckman and Paul Governali, might wrench an upset victory out of the fire with his radar throwing arm.

Penn	0 14 0 13—27

BAYOU BENGALS FALL TO PITCHES OF BRATKOWSKI

Two Quick Touchdowns In 1st Quarter Make Difference

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 18 (AP)—Pass-master Zeke Bratkowski put on a dazzling aerial display to flip Georgia to a 27-14 victory over Louisiana State University in a wild-scoring Southeastern Conference football game tonight.

Hard - driving Georgia scored twice in 10 minutes after LSU fumbled twice — once after a 60 yard drive to the Georgia 20. Dellinger streaked four yards around end for one tally, climaxing an 80 yard march by Manisera, Madison and Earnest. Babcock took a 12-yard Bratkowski pass on the 15. Mrvos converted once to give Georgia a 13-0 lead.

LSU struck by air during a 78-yard touchdown march in the second quarter. Marchand went around left end for nine yards, knocking over the flag in scoring. Stringfield's conversion was good. Stevens reached Doggett, Tuminello and Gautreau with passes during the drive which netted LSU's touchdown and cut Georgia's halftime margin to 13 - 7.

Madison drove over from the two to score for Georgia after left tackle Poll had blocked a punt by LSU's Doggett and recovered it on the LSU 4. Mrvos converted. LSU overcame 30 yards in penalties for unnecessary roughness and drove 41 yards for a touchdown, with Marchand sailing around left end from the two. Stringfield converted and the period ended with Georgia leading 20-14.

Taking charge of the fourth period quickly, Georgia added its fourth touchdown in the first minute. Bratkowski hurled 10 yards to Madison on the one and Madison bulled over on the next play. Mrvos converted. LSU fought back desperately to Georgia's seven, but Nicolo fumbled and Jones recovered to preserve Georgia's 27-14 victory.

MAROONS CRUSH KENTUCKY, 27-14

Jack Parker Guides Mississippi State To Victory

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 18 (AP) — Jackrabbit Jack Parker, Mississippi State quarterback, pranced for two touchdowns and threw storybook passes for two more to crush Kentucky 27-14 today before a homecoming day football crowd of 18,000 fans.

Twice the springy Parker, calling his fourth game of major college football, weaved and toe-danced behind the line of scrimmage dogged by Kentucky tacklers before pulling the trigger on touchdown passes.

One was a 50-yard spiral that gained 39 yards for the first Mississippi State score and the other was a 19-yard heave that bounced from one Mississippi State receiver to another who made it a second state touchdown.

Twice more Parker's throwing arm set up scores carried over by other State backs.

Kentucky was plagued by fumbles—six of them—and untimely penalties that clogged its offensive machine. The one bright moment in Kentucky's dark afternoon was the magnificient running of sophomore Allen Feltch, a New Castle, Pa., fullback.

Fast action poured out in the big second period when State scored three of its TD's and Kentucky crossed the goal line once.

Score by quarters:

Gus Kallio's Arena Offers Tag Team Match In Tuesday's Wrestling Event

Mobley And Sailor Moran Against Phantom And Charro Aztec

A tag team match will feature the weekly card at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night with Rex Mobley, world light - heavy champ pairing with Sailor Moran of Amarillo, Tex. against the Black Phantom from parts unknown, and his partner, newcomer Charro Aztec from Mexico City.

Sailor Moran, who has appeared here previously, is well known in wrestling circles as a former Navy boxer turned grappler. He came out of the Navy in 1930 and under the instruction of Cal Farley and the late Dutch Mandell, he became an established wrestler. Later Moran challenged his former instructor, Dutch Mandell, in Amarillo, and the match between the two is well - remembered there. With the instructor endeavoring to master his pupil and vice versa, the fur really flew. Moran was soon bloody from the kicking and hitting of Mandell, but managed to hold on long enough to give Dutch a dose of his own medicine, kicking out teeth in the process and winning the match.

Charro Aztec is well known throughout Mexico as a rough and tough grappler, fighting many of his bouts in Arena Mexico, Mexico City. He has compiled a long list of victims there and should prove a capable partner for the Black Phantom Tuesday night. Wrestling fans will remember that it was in Mexico City where another tough Mexican, Octavio Gaona, lifted the world's middleweight crown from Gus Kallio in 1939.

Rex Mobley, the newly crowned light - heavy belt owner, needs no introduction to Monroe fans, having just last week defeated the villainous Henry Harrell in two straight falls to win the title.

Two one - fall preliminaries between opposing members of the tag teams will be selected prior to the main event.

CHARRO AZTEC,—(above) tough wrestler from Mexico City, who will make his first appearance in Monroe Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena, when he will be paired with the Black Phantom against champion Rex Mobley and Sailor Moran.

Sub Sparks Holy Cross To 46-0 Win Over Brown

WORCESTER, MASS., Oct. 18 (AP)—Charlie Maloy was in action only about half the time as undefeated Holy Cross rolled up a 46-0 victory over Brown today, but he scored two touchdowns and passing 22 yards to Lou Hettinger for another marker.

Maloy's outstanding feat was a 42-yard run that provided the second touchdown during the seventh minute of play. Earlier he had fed Hettinger for the initial touchdown after Chick Murphy had returned a Brown punt 47 yards to Brown's 22.

Maloy's second touchdown was a one-yard qaarterback sneak that climaxed a 70 yard drive in the third session.

VANDY TRIUMPHS OVER ALLIGATORS

Commodores Fight Off Late Florida Rally To Save Game

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18 (AP)—Vanderbilt and Florida tried their best to fumble away a football game in the opening quarter today before the Commodores picked up the pieces for as thrilling a 20-13 decision as Dudley Field has seen in years.

Freshman Quarterback Bill Krietemeyer's passing and senior Halfback Dick Foster's running featured a Commodore offense that piled up a 20-0 lead.

Then, Rich Casares and Reed Quinn took over the ball game to lead the Gators to a pair of lightning fast touchdowns and almost to a third one which died out on the Vanderbilt three-yard line with only 35 seconds left to play.

The thrilling final period had some 20,000 Vanderbilt partisans hanging on the ropes.

It was vanderbilt's first victory of the season, following two Saturdays of holding favored Northwestern and Mississippi to ties. The loss was Florida's second against three victories.

Both teams were keyed to the last notch and fumbles dominated first quarter play.

WADE RAMRODS VOLUNTEER WIN

Sophomore Back Sparks Tennessee Over 'Bama, 20-0

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18 (AP)—Sophomore Halfback Jimmy Wade broke into action for the first time today and ignited Tennessee to great offensive heights and a 20-0 win over unbeaten and untied Alabama.

Gen. Bob Neyland trotted the fleet-footed 165 - pound speedster from Lynchburg, Va., out on the field late in the second period and he immediately showed the record crowd of 50,000 that he was the right tonic for Tennessee's ailing single wing offense.

On the first play, Wade swept around left end for 14 yards and then went on to spark a march from Tennessee's 11 to the Alabama one where the halftime gun stopped it.

But there was just no stopping Wade after the rest period and he came storming back, to lead two more devastating marches before he retired to the bench.

The first, covering 64 yards, died on the Alabama one when Wade fumbled and Harry Lee recovered in the end zone for Alabama, but Wade would not be denied moments later, climaxing a 65-yard march with a four-yard scamper around left end for the Vols' second touchdown.

That was all for the blond youth, who picked up 153 yards in 18 rushes, but it was obvious to everyone that Tennessee had a stellar new tailback to replace Hank Lauricella, last year's All-America.

Score by quarters:

Tennessee	6 0 0 14—20

Tennessee scoring: Touchdowns, Kozar, Wade, Alexander. Conversions, Kolenik 2.

Jockey Billie Fisk was astride Sickle's Image and the pair covered the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's favored Next Move wound up 6th, being between horses most of way and not able to generate any speed under her top weight of 126 pounds.

Louisiana Tech Whips Northwestern, 22 To 0, For 7th Straight Of Year

Bulldogs Show Hard-Hitting Ground Attack To Demons

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 18 (AP)—A hard - hitting ground attack and an alert defense powered Louisiana Tech to its seventh straight victory over Northwestern State 22-0 today in the 25th football contest between the two Gulf States Conference schools.

The Tech ground offensive netted 242 yards and Bill Cooper's recovery of two Northwestern fumbles were turned into two quick touchdowns by the powerful Tech attack.

The Tech defense also accounted for a safety in the initial quarter.

Quarterback Jimmy Brown, Tech's 175-pound sparkplug, tallied Tech's first score when he smacked over from the nine-yard line in the first quarter after a 50-yard drive. Bud McMichael added the extra point from placement.

Minutes later, Northwestern's George Perkins was tackled in his own end zone by Tech's Paul Morgan for a safety. A high pass from center got away from Perkins and he couldn't elude the aggressive Morgan.

In the second period, Bill Cooper pounced on M. D. Iray's fumble on the Northwestern 43. Three plays later, James Oliver powered his way over the goal line for Tech's second touchdown. McMichael again converted.

The ever-alert Cooper grabbed another of Iray's miscues in the third quarter when the Northwestern quarterback fumbled on his own 25. Brown turned the lapse into a Tech score by passing 12 yards to Kenneth Bates in the end zone. McMichael's try for the extra point was wide.

Tech rolled to 16 first downs to eight for Northwestern. The winner completed five out of ten passes for 70 yards.

Northwestern made a strong scoring bid in the fourth quarter with fullback Leon Fuller spearheading the attack. Northwestern had tried 13 of its 17 passes in the first half but stuck to the ground in a final attempt to cross the Tech goal line.

MICHIGAN STATE SNOWS SYRACUSE

Spartans Use 61 Players To Crush Unbeaten Foe, 48-7

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 18 (AP)— The brilliant running attack of Michigan State's first - string backfield and the blinding speed of the second string backs combined to outclass Syracuse University today as the Spartans won 48 to 7.

A crowd of 38,254 saw Coach Biggie Munn's herd of backs grind out two touchdowns in each of the first three periods and one in the fourth to give Michigan State's top ranked team its 19th straight win, the biggest college streak in the nation today.

Munn had his second string "pony" backs working as early as the first period and the third offensive unit of "pepper backs" was in before the first half was over.

Michigan State used 61 players—believed to be an all time high for the college—as it coasted to an easy win over the Syracuse team which had dropped only one of its first four games.

Michigan State also added a safety. The only M.S.C. weakness was in the extra point department where Evan Slonac made four of his seven extra point tries.

The Syracuse consolation counter came in the fourth period when Pat Stark threw a pass that was batted into the air and caught by Guard Dick Beyer who went 28 yards for the score.

WILDLIFE GROUP FOR AMENDMENT

Plans Statewide Advertising To Promote Passage

The Louisiana Wildlife Federation has mapped plans for statewide promotion to fight for the passage of "amendment No. 9" in the November state elections, and V. E. Smith, slated to become director of enforcement of the Louisiana department of Wildlife and Fisheries, has said game wardens of the state will become known as "rangers."

J. B. Thoman, president of the Ouachita unit of the federation, last night said a meeting of state wildlife leaders Friday at Alexandria had resulted in the organization empowering J. J. Besson, federation president, and Charles Bosch, secretary, to conduct statewide newspaper advertising in behalf of passage of the amendment.

The proposed amendment, if passed, will end rule of the state commissioner and place operation in the hands of a seven-man commission.

Smith, of Covington, speaking before the session, said new requirements for "rangers" will go into effect. He listed qualifications for rangers as: Must be from 21 to 41 years of age, good character, temperament, and be able to stand rigid investigation; cannot have a record of arrests for game violations; must have interest in work and be able to meet the public; be free of physical defects, a resident of Louisiana, and willing to transfer from any section of the state to another either whole or parttime; and cannot, without exception, have any other employment or business.

Smith told the meeting it is planned to put the rangers in uniform.

Duke's Steamroller Sinks North Carolina State By 57-0 Count

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 18 (AP)—Powerful Duke, with an eye cocked on next week's game with Virginia, unleashed an avalanche of touchdowns in the first three periods quarters and then rode out an easy 57-0 Southern Conference win over North Carolina State today.

A crowd of 11,500 saw the awesome Blue Devils, fifth-ranked team in the nation, roll relentlessly behind the expert quarterbacking of Worth Lutz and last year's starting signal caller, Jerry Barger.

Duke poured across three touchdowns in the first period, added three more and a safety in the second and closed out with two in the third.

TIRED TULANE FALLS TO OLE MISS, 20 TO 14

WESTERMAN BIG WHEEL IN REBEL WIN OVER WAVE

Last Period Touchdown Snaps Tie That Breaks Greenies

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18 (AP) — Halfback Dick Westerman built a blaze under Mississippi today and then led the roaring Rebels to a ground-searing 20-14 Southeastern Conference football victory over tired Tulane.

Mississippi, tied twice in three conference starts, found the spark in Westerman's two touchdown smashes to ignite its offense.

The 175-pound left halfback from Hernando, Miss., snared a flat pass in the second quarter and burned up the remaining 54 yards to send Mississippi into a 7-0 lead.

Tulane tied it up in the third quarter, but Westerman applied the torch again to Mississippi's offense with a three yard touchdown plunge.

Halfback Wilson Dillard climaxed a 38-yard fourth quarter drive to give the Rebels their game-clinching touchdown. Quarterback Jimmy Lear converted after the first two touchdowns.

Tulane pushed over its final touchdown in the last second on a one yard plunge by halfback Roy Bailey, but for all practical purposes the game was over after Dillard's scoring run.

Mississippi had too much power on the ground for Tulane to handle.

The Rebels piled up 326 yards rushing to 103 for Tulane, battered and weary after losing SEC games to Georgia and Georgia Tech.

In contrast, Mississippi seemed to find itself today after being tied by Vanderbilt and Kentucky.

Lear tried seven passes for the Mississippians and completed one — the scoring flip to Westerman for the first touchdown.

Tulane came back from the halftime intermission with fire in its eyes. With three passes quarterback Pete Clement moved Tulane to the Mississippi 22, from where he tossed a touchdown strike to Bailey. Clement converted.

Tulane marched for its second touchdown in the dying minutes of the final period. Running from a double wing formation, tailback Leter Kennedy passed to end W. C. McElhannon and wingback Clement sparked the drive that ended with Bailey's three yard dash. Clement converted.

Unbeaten Penn State Hands Nebraska First Defeat By 10-0 Score

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—An unbeaten, once-tied Penn State football team was thrown back three times by valiant Nebraska goal line stands before Quarterback Tony Rados could pitch the Nittany Lions to a 10-0 victory over the previously unbeaten Cornhuskers today.

Penn State, playing before a capacity homecoming crowd of 30,000, was unable to get a sustained offense rolling against the stubborn Nebraska defense until late in the third period. Rados, a junior transfer from Notre Dame, finally cracked the ice with a three-yard third down TD pass to big Jesse Arnelle, a giant end from New Rochelle, N. Y. The score came in the dying minutes of the third period.

Then halfback Bill Leonard iced the hard earned decision by booting a 17-yard field goal midway through the final quarter.

Score by quarters:

Sulphur Delivers Crusher To State Champion Istrouma To Top 'AA' Card

Bastrop Whips Bossier City, Ouachita Loses To Fair Park

By The Associated Press

Fullback Ed Burleson cracked through Istrouma's defense for two touchdowns in sparking Sulphur to a 26-7 victory over the defending double-A football kings from Baton Rouge.

The battering back powered a Sulphur offense that ground out 269 yards rushing last night, crushing Istrouma's defense and 16-game winning streak.

Both of Burleson's touchdowns came in the third quarter and erased a 7-6 Istrouma halftime lead.

The game was an interdistrict affair and does not affect the race for district titles and the playoff berths that follow. But it packed a double helping of prestige. Sulphur, a southwest district team, and Istrouma, southeast favorites, were tied for top spot in this week's Associated Press rankings. They were among the three unbeaten teams before this week's action.

The third, St. Aloysius of New Orleans, will have its hands full tomorrow protecting its record facing Holy Cross, the team favored to win the city title.

The week end's top game matching individual stars ended with Tommy Davis scoring 21 points to lead Fair Park of Shreveport to a 27-7 north district victory over Ouachita of Monroe and its star, Frank Mobley.

Three other district games were scheduled.

Jerry Henderson threw three touchdown passes in leading Bastrop to a 27-7 victory over Bossier City in another north game; Ralph Isaac and Iggie Gonzales each scored twice to pace Warren Easton's 45-25 New Orleans victory over Nicholls; and Ronnie Quillian scored in the final period to give Baton Rouge a 6-0 verdict over city-rival Catholic high.

In interdistrict games, Terrebonne of Houma (southwest) beat Jesuit (New Orleans) 19-6 behind the fine running of A. J. Louviere and Bolton of Alexandria (southwest) downed Byrd of Shreveport (north) 13-7 with Charles Scoto scoring once and passing for the winning touchdown.

Double - A teams broke even against class A foes last night. Bogalusa downed Baker 9-7 and Jenning (north) 13-7 with Charles Scoto scoring once and passing for the winning touchdown.

Double - A teams broke even against class A foes last night. Bogalusa downed Baker 9-7 and Jennings (north) 13 - 7 with Charles Lake Charles. However, the class A teams had the best of it Thursday, when New Iberia was tied 0-0 by Abbeville and Lafayette lost 21-6 to Oakdale.

Sulphur got its first touchdown against Istrouma the easy way—on a 40-yard run by John Scofield in the opening quarter. However, Istrouma took the lead before halftime on Tommy Bell's one - yard scoring smash and Winton Turner's conversion.

Burleson went into action in the third quarter, scoring on runs of 17 and 10 yards. Wayne Bourgeois cracked over from the two for the final score.

Sulphur dominated the play, gaining 290 yards from scrimmage to Istroum's 136 and making 14 first downs to Istrouma's six.

An unexpected star cropped up in the Fair Park-Ouachita duel between Davis and Mobley. He was Johnny Crumpler, a small speedster who scored Fair Park's fourth quarter touchdown. Crumpler outgained both Davis and Mobley, getting 199 yards on 14 tries. Davis got 172 on 18 and Mobley 103 on 20.

Davis scored two of his touchdowns on short bucks and one on a 30-yard run. Mobley got his touchdown on a one-yard dash. Crumpler scored on an 18-yard run after taking a lateral from Davis, who had gone 17 yards.

Baton Rouge scored its winning touchdown against Catholic in the final six minutes, with Quillian bucking over from the one after a 37-yard drive. Baton Rouge lost an opportunity in the third period when Quillian fumbled while crossing the Catholic goal and tackle Larry Cumbo recovered for the losers.

The Easton - Nicholls game was an offensive battle throughout. Gonzales and Isaac spearheaded the Easton attack with two scores each. Larry Cimo and Earl Ostricher also scored.

Chris Theobold got two touchdowns for Nicholls, with Pete Merere and Al Gabriel adding the others.

Fullback Lloyd Smith scored Bastrop's first touchdown against Bossier City on a three - yard crash through the line. Henderson went into action in the last half with one scoring pass to Johnny Madison and two to A. W. Reid. J. W. Slack got Bossier's touchdown on a 75-yard run in the fourth period.

Jesuit scored first in its game against Terrebonne, with Six Gelpi bucking over from the one, but Terrebonne came back fast with Bobby Kimball scoring on a four-yard run and Louviere adding the conversion for a 7-6 halftime edge. Louviere ran 20 yards and Clifford Smith 16 on an end around to ice the game for Terrebonne after intermission.

Charles Scott gave Bolton its victory with touchdowns on a 25 yard run and an 18-yard pass to Don Holloway, with the run breaking a 7-7 tie. Byrd got its score in the first quarter, shortly after Holloway's touchdown, on a Dickie Sinn's 11-yard run.

Quarterback Donald Fontenot led LaGrange over Jennings with touchdowns on sneaks of one and two yards and scoring passes of 19 and 20 yards.

Denny Marshall took a 15 - yard pass from Richard Clement and a seven yard pass from Harry Jones and ran 13 yards for the Jennings touchdowns.

Bogalusa took a 9-0 lead over Baker on a 67-yard pass from Robert Alford to Harlan Irvine and a fourth period safety. The two-pointer came when Daniel Fournet blocked a Baker punt, which bounced back through the Baker end zone. It proved to be the winning margin as Baker scored in the final period on Ralph Davis' one-yard buck.

WINNFIELD WINS FROM FARMERS

Winn Parish Tigers Chalk Up 20 To 0 'A' Triumph

WINNFIELD, La. Oct. 18. (Special)—The Winnfield Tigers gave their homecoming visitors a victory here last night, defeating the Farmerville Farmers 20-0 in a display of long touchdown gallops.

Left Halfback Bobby Gates opened the scoring with a 57 yard spring in the second quarter, and Quarterback Conrad Swilley's boot for the extra point was good. Swilley himself added a touchdown on a 60-yard journey, and kicked another extra point, and the third Winnfield marker was tacked on by Right Halfback Robert Boyett on a five-yard plunge.

Fullback Tommy Straughan was the hard luck player of the night. He crossed the goal line twice, on trips of 57 and 77 yards marked by beautiful open field running, but each time the ball was brought back and Winnfield was penalized for infraction of rules.

Farmerville's Billy Nolan, as was expected, proved to be one of the offensive standouts of the night, but although he posted several nice runs he never was able to shake loose for a touchdown.

Pitt's Panthers Look Like Power Of Old In Smashing Army, 22-14

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP) — Paul Chess, a second string Pitt fullback, exploded behind crisp, vigorous blocking reminiscent of the old Jock Sutherland era today to puncture Army's dreams of a sudden return to old-time heights with a 22-14 victory.

Only in the final minutes when Pitt had piled up a 22-0 lead, did Army strike for its two too-late touchdowns against the inspired Pitt team that upended Notre Dame a week ago.

Rudy Mattioli, the air arm and quarterback brains off the revived Pitt club, wisely mixed the ground power of Chess, Billy Reynolds and John Jacobs with his own right arm to pierce Army defenses at crucial points.

Score by quarters;

Pitt	7	9	6	0	—22
Army	0	0	0	14	—14

Pitt scoring: touchdowns, Chess 2, Reynolds; Conversions: Blanda 2. Safety: Attaya (tackled in end zone by Zomebek). Army scoring: touchdown, Delucia 2: conversions: Shain 2.

Twin Cities Feminine Golf Gab

All feminine eyes—and a lot of masculine eyes, too—will be turned toward the Municipal Golf Club Wednesday as play starts in the First Annual Northeast Louisiana Ladies' Golf Association tournament. Play starts promptly at 9 a.m. and all ladies that have failed to join are extended a cordial invitation to do so before teeing off time Wednesday morning. Players desiring to join can contact Sara Ducote at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, Bernice Watkins at McGuire Park Golf Club, or Goldie Copes at Municipal Golf Club.

The Northeast Louisiana Ladies' Golf Association consists of the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, Monroe; Municipal Golf Club, Monroe; McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe; Hodge, La., Golf and Country Club; Ruston, La., Country Club, and Morehouse Golf and Country Club at Bastrop.

Announcement has been made that the association plans six yearly tournaments, one at each club.

And speaking of tournaments for ladies, something new has been added in the Twin Cities.

Monday, October 27, at Municipay Golf Club the Twin Cities Ladies' Golf Championship will get under way. To our best knowledge and belief this is the first Twin Cities Ladies' Golf championship tourney ever held in this neck of the woods.

Plans for the meet are prizes for the winner, runnerup and consolation position in each flight, and play will be over the 18-hole match play route.

The ladies are planning on having a large number of entrants and have made plans for five flights..

The City of Monroe has donated a trophy to be presented to the championship flight winner.

A small entrance fee of $2.00 will be charged and registration continues until October 27 at Muny.

Ladies' Day at Bayou DeSiard C. C. had another nice turnout this week but quite a few of the "old regulars" were missing. Among those absent were Georgia Summer and Lucy Upp who are visiting in Florida; Rosalie Fudickar, visiting in Shreveport, and Thelma Faust and Mary Shamblin, of Rayville, who AWOL.

A big gettogether and confab was held at the luncheon table with Mary Gray and Suzonne Kellogg in attendance, although they did not participate in the Wednesday play. Looks like its hard to miss this luncheon "golf gossip" even when you are unable to find time to play.

One of the most frequent golfers at Bayou DeSiard C. C., Aileen Guthrie, has joined the "business world," working for her dad, and it's gonna be hard to realize that she hasn't time to continue playing in the Ladies' Day events in the Twin Cities. Maybe "dear old dad" will let her off on Ladies' Day.

Trudy Aaron, a new member in the Ladies' Golf Association of Bayou DeSiard C. C. was welcomed this week.

Betty Gray returned to the fold after a long absence.

Ladies participating in Wednesday's meet and also showing up at the luncheon table were: Liz Miller, Bunny Girault, Sara Ducote, Ellen Mintz, Ruth Kelso, Margaret Davis, Lorraine McMahan, Helen Wheeler, Louise Morgan, Layton Lamkin, Aileen Guthrie, Helen Campbell, Dot Nash and May Beekman. Louise Morgan was tourney winner with a low net of 33 and Layton Lamkin won the low putts award, with 13.

Helen Wheeler is in New Orleans for a short visit and carried along with her her golf clubs and expects to get in a day of golf while there.

The ladies at Bayou DeSiard C. C. are on the lookout for several feminine golfers that have been missed for the past several weeks. They are: Sara Cole McSherry, Marie McCleary, Judy Turpin, Jean Faulk, Bertha Marie Gorn, Esther Masur and Nancy Weaks.

Twenty-two ladies participated this week in the Muny Ladies' Day Golf Meet, the largest number in some time. Mrs. Thelma Faust, of Rayville, won low net. Second low net went to Mrs. David Garrett; hole-in-one champ was Mrs. Raymond John, and low putts winner was Mrs. Shep Girault.

Other participants were: Layton Lamkin, Sara Ducote, Helen Campbell, Dot Nash, Bernice Girault, Dorothea Garrett, Margaret Davis, Trudy Aaron, Carol Marx, Charlotte Walker, Anne Brown, Thelma Faust, Mary Shamblin, Jo Ann Ussery, Virginia High, Ruth Kelso, Snowdie John, May Beekman, Goldie Copes, Doris Harbuck, Wilena Villa and Wilma Marx.

Two new members were welcomed: Mrs. Frank Davis and Mrs. Glenn Walker.

We humbly apologize for missing publication of this column last week, and we wish to thank the many, many persons who called inquiring about the column, but it was unavoidable. We're gonna try to see that it doesn't happen again.

Ouachita, Neville Have Open Dates; St. Matthew's Starts Home Schedule

Irish Play Junction City Here; L. T. I. To Waterproof

Open dates appear this week on the football schedules of Ouachita Parish and Neville High of Monroe.

Ouachita next plays at home on October 31, meeting Byrd High of Shreveport, and following on successive weeks with Baton Rouge High, Bossier City, and Pine Bluff, Ark.

Neville returns to action October 31 against the Tallulah Trojans at Tallulah and winds up with Fair Park of Shreveport and Bastrop.

Both suffered losses Friday night, Ouachita bending before a great Fair Park eleven, 27-7, and Neville looking impressive in defeat at the hands of Ruston, 14-7.

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's launch their own home schedule this week when Coach Jay Broussard's boys engage Junction City, Ark., here at Brown Field Friday.

The Louisiana Training Institute Pelicans, who notched their second win of the season the past week by defeating the Vidalia Vikings, will travel Thursday to Waterproof where the Tensas Tigers will be given a good chance to rebound from their 6-0 loss to Lake Providence Friday night.

GA. TECH SMEARS AUBURN, 33 TO 0

Engineers Sparked By Defensive Back's Interceptions

ATLANTA, Oct. 18 (AP) —Hungry-handed Bobby Moorhead, a defensive halfback with an appetite for Auburn passes, ran back two interceptions for touchdowns as Georgia Tech whipped Auburn today, 33-0.

Young Moorhead, a Miami, Fla., kid who would make a great offensive end, opened the gates for unbeaten Tech with a 46-yard runback for a touchdown in the second quarter. He practically wrapped up the game in the third quarter with a 41-yard excursion through Auburn land.

Nineteen games have passed since Tech lost the last time in November, 1950, to Alabama. The record is third best in major college football, topped only by the slightly better strings of Michigan State and Maryland.

Moorhead snagged Dudley Spence's throw on Auburn's 46, twisted around three Auburn men, jerked free of two others and ran over the goal. Pepper Rodgers capped the run with a conversion, giving Tech a 7-0 halftime lead.

Tech's Bill Teas, with his stovepipe shaped legs churning, scored on a wide left end run from the six. Three plays later Moorhead scored No. 2 — this one going 41 yards after another interception.

The game came to pieces in the final quarter with two more Tech scores. Leon Hardeman slugged for two yards for one touchdown. Pepper Rodgers, a third string quarterback, passed 28 yards to end Dave Davis for the last score.

Rodgers converted three times, missing the uprights on one try and getting another blocked by a mass of Auburn men.

BASTROP BELTER REAPPEARS HERE

Norris Ray To Headline Second Boxing Card At Kallio's Arena

Monroe boxing fans will get another look at Norris Ray, the undefeated Bastrop middleweight, when he main events Gus Kallio's second boxing promotion on Monday night, October 27.

Matchmakers Larche and Ray Campbell have obtained another sensational opponent for Ray in Hall Meredith, of Macon, Ga., a middleweight with an unblemished pro record. Among Meredith's recent accomplishments is a victory over the New Orleans flash, Billy LeBlanc, in a Pensacola, Fla. main event.

Ray, who decisively outpointed Charley Brackey of Memphis in an action-packed ten round thriller here last Monday, but was unable to KO the iron-jawed Tennessean, is still hoping to demonstrate his devastating power to the Monroyans. But with Meredith's experience and ability, another terrific battle may be on tap.

The preliminary card has not been announced as yet, though it is positive there will be four bouts, as before, and in one, crowd-pleasing Earl Pardon of Oak Grove will return, and in another, Earl's younger brother, L. D. Pardon, will fight his first professional bout.

Outclassed Lafayette Falls Easy Victim To Princeton Tigers, 48-0

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 18. (AP)—A pair of long runs by Bill Tryon and Earl Byrne touched off a Princeton scoring spree today to give the Tigers an easy 48 to 0 victory over the outclassed Lafayette football team today.

Although the Tigers got back on the winning track after last week's loss to Penn ended their 24-game victory streak they put on an unimpressive, fumbling performance for 10,000 spectators.

Score by quarters:

Lafayette	0	0	0	0	—0

Princeton scoring: touchdowns, Tryon, Byrne 2, Smith, Newell, Van Gytenbeek, Emery. Conversions, Newell 4, Unger 2.

Maryland's Scarbath Leads Way To 38-7 Verdict Over Navy

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 18 (AP) —Maryland poured it on for three quarters today and then relaxed for an easy 17th straight victory by a 38-7 score over undefeated Navy.

Quarterback Jack Scarbath and his fellow offensive dynamiters blew Maryland ahead 31-0 by the middle of the third quarter and then retired for the game.

The Maryland second string offensive added another touchdown in the third quarter and Navy didn't score until early in the last period.

Four Navy and three Maryland players were put out of the game for getting too rough.

The Marylanders, with Scarbath carrying the torch, swept through Navy's vaunted defenses. They roared 76 yards in six plays the first time they got the ball and 52 yards the next time. When they got stopped on their third drive they kicked a field goal and piled on another touchdown for a 24-0 first half lead.

Nixon Denies New 'Fund' Allegation

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN, Oct. 18 (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon's press secretary today labeled as "untrue and inconsequential" an implied charge that the Republican vice presidential candidate had used a political fund in addition to the $18,000 one that has been made public.

Commissioner F. Joseph Donohue of the District of Columbia said last night in a speech at a Washington Democratic meeting that Dana Smith, California attorney who raised the $18,000 fund, "drew checks from at least two funds."

James Bassett, Nixon's press secretary, told reporters as the Nixon train rolled through upstate New York:

"This is just another attempt by these people to build a backfire against the campaign, which has got them badly rattled."

Bassett declined to question Nixon about the matter and refused reporters's requests for a news conference with the vice presidential nominee. He said the latter refusal was because the senator had a "tight schedule."

Reds Declare All Out Economic War On U. S.

The 19th Congress of the All-Union Soviet Communist party produced an open declaration of ceaseless political-economic war on the United States. And, almost escaping notice in the midst of Moscow's portentous announcements, was the outline of a plan of operation by one of the most important arms of Stalin's far-flung fifth column.

Delegates to the Congress—those representing the Soviet party and those representing Communists of 45 other countries in the new Communist International—read in the Soviet press the plans of the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) to be co-ordinated with the Kremlin's drive for world domination.

This organization, wholly Moscow's creature, announced it plans:

1. A swift step-up of infiltration of labor ranks in "colonial and dependent countries," meaning such countries as those of the Middle East and Latin America.

2. To foment labor trouble wherever possible. In Western Europe the emphasis is first on France and then on Italy.

3. To promote such things as "hunger marches" and mass demonstrations in economically troubled countries, all keyed to the tune of hatred for the U. S.

Soviet leaders now fondly and repeatedly refer to "the international authority of the USSR"—meaning eventual world pre-eminence of communism. The group which now is in control of the Soviet Union is made up of cold, dedicated zealots who have grown up in isolation from the Western world. Their leader is Georgi Malenkov, who moves with calculating caution and eyes the long-range, cheap victory.

If Malenkov can avoid it, there is not likely to be any headlong plunge into an adventure that would blow up in war. He is keeping the Army under strict control of the Communist party, using it in the classic Clausewitz way—domination through its very presence without need of frontal assault.

Stalin and his henchmen at the Congress laid great stress on world communism's campaign, making no bones about their hope it would lead to the economic collapse first of Western European countries and Japan, then eventually of the United States. Stalin baldly offered "help" to the Reds abroad to undermine Western governments.

In a sense, the West can be grateful for the Moscow Congress. Along with the Communist peace campaign, it illuminated Soviet plans for a long-range drive. While cooing bout peace, the USSR seems preparing for a fierce war of words and markets, aimed at edging the U. S. out of Asia, cutting it off from the Moslem-Arab world and heading it toward a fight for survival.

Such a program could blow up in war. If it should, the Kremlin indicates a heavy reliance on its fifth column.

This is especially noteworthy, since the focal point of the Communist Party was western Pennsylvania where the basic industries, steel, coal and electric, are located.

"The Republican party," he said, "continued to put restraints on oppressive business up to its last moments in office in 1933. . . .

2. "Misrepresentation that the Republicans created the great depression and then did nothing about it."

Hoover replied that the depression started elsewhere in the world and "its major violence came from the inevitable bankruptcy of Europe as the aftermath of the first World War. . . .

"Most outstanding economists are agreed that Republican measures brought beginnings of the recovery in July, 1932. But our recovery then in motion was reversed by a wholly unnecessary panic of bank depositors.

3. That the Republican party is "reactionary and opposed to change."

Hoover cited Republican legislation in the field of labor, child labor, farm, housing, veterans, civil service and prison legislation, asking after each point:

"Was this reactionary?"

He said of housing:

"By co-operative measures with the people, we secured construction of more new homes during the twenties than the whole eight years of the New Deal."

4. That the Republican party neglected "conservation and development of natural resources."

Hoover ran through a long list of GOP efforts in the fields of forestry, oil conservation, reclamation, rivers and harbors, highways, bridges and public buildings and asserted:

"In fact in the single four years from 1929 to 1933, Republicans built more useful public works than in the entire previous 30 years."

5. That the Republican party is incompetent to preserve peace.

Said Hoover:

"The misrepresentation that the Republican party is an isolationist party is false on the record."

Cox and three other public members of the board joined with four industry members to vote the 40 cent reduction in the wage pact signed by Lewis and the industry late last month. That contract was to have taken effect Oct. 1.

The four labor members failed in their motion to win approval of the full amount. The vote on this motion—and the final vote—was 8 to 4, with public and industry members composing the majority both times.

Only 12 of the board's 18 members voted, four each from labor, industry and the public.

$45.00 UP

Tweed has been transformed from a rough-and-ready character to the smooth, suave type! These newest versions are lighter in weight, lighter in color, softer, more varied in weave. Hardly a trace of old fashioned tweeds is left — except for their hardy indifference to wear, and their brawny, 'man's man' look.

Campus Togs tailors them in crisp, trim lines — styling that is right for the office, stadium or on the town. Choose from the new herringbones, crows feet effects or Donegals, in unusual smoky-toned shades.

Economy Note: the coat doubles as a smart sport jacket with flannel or gabardine slacks.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Laura Phillips, Mrs. Roy Colquette and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Bonhomie Book Club Meets With Mrs. R. B. Pilaut

Members Hear Talks On Program Theme 'Problems Of Today'

The gracious hospitality of Mrs. R. B. Pilaut's home was recently extended to members of the Bonhomie Book Club. The president, Mrs. George Forman, called the meeting to order and lead the group in the recitation of the club collect.

During the business meeting, the monthly G. F. W. C. bulletin and the call to the district convention at Lafayette were read.

Immediately following the various business items, the program was turned over to Mrs. Robert Irby and Mrs. Warren Breard, whose talks were directly related to the club program theme, "Problems of Today."

Mrs. Irby, American home chairman, reported on problems of today's parents, in which she cited specific instances and the solution to each.

Mrs. Breard, clubwoman chairman, discussed common ailments of women's clubs. She said in part: "The wide - spread prevalence of certain ailments among women's clubs, which prevents them from functioning effectively and wielding the influence which could be theirs, has been the cause of vast research in the cause and treatment of the most common maladies."

"A diagnosis of a typical club, presenting a tired and wornpout spirit and a down - at - the - heels appearance, will reveal the presence, very often, of one of these diseases: 1. Undernourishment. . . some clubs show definite signs of under - nourishment. The diet furnished the club by the program committee should have vitamins galore. 2. Miscellaneous. . .This disease is a diet deficiency disease caused by too varied a menu from meeting to meeting. The machinery of the club becomes choked from being gorged with materials foreign to the theme set up at the beginning of the year. 3. Overcentralism. . .This malady comes from too detailed an investigation of some one subject, occupying the entire club year. 4. Over-socialization. . .A nervous condition caused by over-socialization during the club year strikes some clubs in the coincident with the making of the annual report. 5. Poor circulation. . .Some clubs are plagued with poor circulation. Members attend meetings spasmodically, and never notify the hostess of nonattendance. 6. Envy-itis or jealousy. 7. Rash. . .This condition is not serious as it is only skin deep. The terrifying part of the whole thing is that some members itch to carry out certain activities connected with certain departments, while other members feel that the department which they head is the one and only worthy of notice."

"A complete list of diseases is impossible here. There are many which are chronic, thousands which are acute. All these diseases can be cured if discovered early enough by the suffering club."

The hostess then served delectable refreshments to the following members: Mrs. Breard, Mrs. Irby, Mrs. Forman, Mrs. Hal Q. Laymon, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. L. H. Leverett, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. H. V. Collins, and Mrs. W. D. McGee.

Miss Frankie Dayton Is Bride Of Jack William Wilson

College Place Baptist Church Is Setting For Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

The College Place Baptist Church was the setting for the impressive double-ring ceremony of Miss Frankie Dayton, daughter of Mrs. Henry F. Dayton, and the late Mr. Dayton, and Jack William Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eric Wilson, of West Monroe, which was solemnized Saturday, October 4, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, officiated.

The vows of the service were exchanged before an altar which was decorated with baskets of white mums and tuberoses, interspersed with woodwardia fern. Myriads of slender white tapers in graduated candelabra, provided illumination, and were lighted by the ushers, Perry C. Dayton, brother of the bride, and Kent Anderson, friend of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Edward Walker Dayton III, was lovely in an imported blue wool with navy accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a white gardenia surrounded with fleud d'amour, touched with sweetheart roses and tuberoses and cascaded with satin streamers caught at intervals with net and tuberoses.

Preceding the bride to the altar was Mrs. Edward W. Dayton, matron of honor and only attendant. She was wearing a gray tailleau with brown accessories and a corsage of red roses and ivy leaves.

Bobby Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Miss Annieree McDuffie, at the piano, rendered several selections, and accompanied Mrs. Bobby Wilson, as she sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

Mrs. Dayton, mother of the bride, chose a black faille model, with black accessories and a corsage of pink hibiscus. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Wilson, wore a gray fall suit with black and salmon accessories. She wore a corsage of green hydrangea and salmon geranium.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's mother on Spurgeon Drive. Throughout the receiving rooms were lovely decorations of pink and white roses placed at vantage points.

The bride's table, overlaid with a beautiful imported cloth, held a central decor of pink and white rose buds, and Rose of Montana, on either side was placed silver candelabras holding ten tall white tapers. The wedding confection, placed at one end of the table, was reflected from a mirror and embossed in white and pink roses.

Mrs. Leon Kirby, in grey with corsage of pink hibiscus, served punch from a huge crystal bowl.

Mrs. E. S. Parrish, wearing black crepe, and a corsage of pink roses, served the cake after the bride and groom had cut the first slice. Mrs. Bobby Wilson assisted in the serving courtesies.

The bride and groom left immediately following the reception for points in south Louisiana and are at home in New Orleans, where Mr. Wilson is a student at the Physical Therapy School. He was graduated from Ouachita Parish School and Northeast Louisiana State College. Mrs. Wilson was graduated from Neville High School and N. L. S. C.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eric Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wilson entertained the bridal party following rehearsal Friday evening at a buffet supper in the Wilson home on North Fourth St.

Bayou DeSiard Garden Club Has Flower Show

Mrs. R. C. Holler Entertains Members At October Meeting

One of the most interesting and enjoyable meetings of the Bayou DeSiard Garden Club was the Flower Show in the lovely home of Mrs. R. C. Holler, with Mrs. James Bradley assisting Mrs. Holler as hostess.

Members were asked to make and bring their own flower arrangements to be judged at this time, and these were placed in the beautiful sun room at every vantage point.

Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. H. W. Tolson, Mrs. W. G. Miller, acting as president, called the meeting to order with the roll call and reading of September minutes. This was followed by a reading of "A Gardener's Prayer" in unison.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. John Lewis, Flower Show judge. Mrs. Lewis judged all arrangements on a six point basis as follows: color combination, relation to its container, condition of flowers, design, originality and suitability. Each arrangement was checked for errors in accordance with the above rules.

The following members won Blue Ribbons: Mrs. A. Ponder, Mrs. John Huffman, Mrs. Jack Rushing, Mrs. R. C. Holler, Mrs. Shelby Cage, Mrs. James Bradley, and Mrs. R. T. Farr. Red Ribbon winners, Mrs. J. Rushing, Mrs. W. G. Miller and Mrs. H. H. Petty. Mrs. Everett Heller won a Blue Ribbon for her beautiful fruit arrangement.

Each of the members felt they had learned a great deal from Mrs. Lewis. Three new members were accepted at this time, Mrs. Z. Chapman, Mrs. Ben Simpson and Mrs. W. B. Inabnet.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. C. Ackel, Mrs. James Bradley, Mrs. S. Cage, Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Mrs. R. J. Farr, Mrs. E. G. Heller, Mrs. R. C. Holler, Mrs. John Huffman, Mrs. W. G. Miss Eddie Lewis And Charles Taylor United In Marriage

Of interest to friends in this section is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Eddie Mae Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Lewis, of Shreveport, and Charles Calvin Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Taylor of Baltimore, Md., whose marriage was solemnized Friday, October 3 in the auditorium of the Life Tabernacle. The Rev. Jack T. Moore, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive ceremony before an altar which was decorated with floor standards of chrysanthemums and ferns and the soft glow of the branched candelabra tapers.

Mrs. Donald Price, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music while the guests were gathering, and accompanied Wayne Thomas, who sang "At Dawning" and "I Love Thee." Miss Jean Lewis, soprano, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and at the conclusion of the service, "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Miss Barbara Bynum in a gown of rose satin with a net yoke sprinkled with rhinestones, served as the bridesmaid. She carried a colonial bouquet of asters. In a gown of blue green nylon net over satin, Miss Rheta Cryer, carrying a bouquet of gold asters, served as maid of honor to the bride.

The flower girl was Miss Betty Sue Rhodes, and Bobby Mackey was ringbearer.

The bride entered on the arm of Grady Powell, who gave her in marriage. Her blonde coloring was enhanced by her dress of traditional ivory satin. Soft biased folds of satin outlined the yoke of nylon illusion to form a portrait neckline. The neck of the gown was closed by small, satin-covered buttons down the back to the waist of the tightly fitted bodice. The long sleeves ended in points over the wrists. The full, gathered skirt, worn over hoops, ended in a chapel train. A fingertip veil of nylon illusion was held in place by the headpiece of satin with a trimming of seed pearls and rhinestones. For her bouquet, the bride carried a purple-throated orchid with tuberoses topping her white Bible.

Robert Garber served the bridegroom as best man and Sherman Earl Davis was groomsman. Ushers were Kenneth Tynan and David Moore, who also lighted the candles for the occasion.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a dress of sheer navy crepe and wore a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony.

Assisting in the courtesies were Miss Mary Ann Taylor, Miss Nell Crumpler and Miss Betty Sue Hill.

The bride's table was centered with a flower arrangement of seasonal spider lilies and fern resting upon a mirrored reflector. A three-tiered wedding confection, topped with the miniature bride and bridegroom, was at one end of the table and the crystal punch bowl at the other.

Sergeant Taylor is stationed at Barksdale Air Force base in Shreveport. Following their wedding trip to Natchez, Miss. the young couple will be at home at 3209½ Kentucky Ave., Shreveport.

Mrs. W. B. Inabnet Hostess At Fine Arts Club Meeting

Members Enjoy Program On Music And Art At October Event

The first business and program meeting of the Fine Arts Club was held Monday in the home of Mrs. W. B. Inabnet with Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mrs. Dolly Douglas and Miss May Read, co - hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by Miss May Read, presideut, and the collect was read in unison. Twenty-two members answered to roll call including Mrs. F. O. Seymour, who was recently elected to membership. Guests introduced at this time were Mrs. Bertha Roussel and Max Kulcke.

Committee reports were given and routine business transacted, after which a very interesting program of music and art was given. Harry Lemert, who was program chairman for the evening, introduced the selections with an explanatory talk concerning the preclassic period. He outlined the dates, named many musicians, and other artists of that time, explained the trends and influences that brought out some of the fine music that we enjoy today. Mr. Lemert presented Mrs. Lida Mae Coon who sang the "Lament of Dido" by the English Composer Purcell. It is a part of a three-act opera composed between the years 1688-90 and was first performed at a boarding school of Josias Priest at Chelsea, and revived on the occasion of the bi-centenary of Purcell's death in 1895, and has been presented frequently in England since then. In 1926 the opera was translated into German by Anton Mayer, at Munster, Germany. The second number on the program was "The Jig," by Arne, also a seventeenth century, English composer. The Engish jig has no special characteristics. It originated from an old Italian dance.

Leon Hammonds gave a fine interpretation of this number.

Miss Leita Mae King represented the artists on this program with an exhibit of some of the prints by Raphael who is known for his Madonnas, Michael Angelo, who was poet, architect, painter and sculptor; and Leonards DeVinci, who is not only noted as an artist, but is known for the amazing number of subjects treated in over 5,000 pages of unpublished manuscript. They included studies of nature, anatomy, gardening, geometric laws, birds, heavenly bodies, and most interesting to the present generation, was his plan for the aeroplane, that was built and tested, but without success at that time, the seventeenth century.

A Halloween motif was used on the handsomely appointed table with trays of open face sandwiches, in Halloween style, and traditional pumpkin pie, nuts and candies. Miss May Read presided at the tea service.

Guests and members present were Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Mr. and Mrs. John Cale, Mrs. Geraldine Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dalton, Mrs. Dolly Douglas, Miss LaDelle Duke, Leon Hammonds, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Inabnet, Miss Leita Mae King, Mr. and Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Harry Lemert, Mrs. Maud Mayo, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Miss Juanita Porter, Miss May Read, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope, Mrs. Taunton Veazey, Mrs. Willie Mae Wafer, Mrs. F. O. Seymour, Mrs. Bertha Roussel and Max Kuicke.

Wheelis was elected chairman of the G. B. Cooley library commission and Mrs. Henson Coon was elected to serve on the same commission.

Mrs. A. J. Speer read the minutes of the previous meeting in the absence of the recording secretary, Mrs. R. H. Dollar.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. R. Doughty read the invitation from the Junior Charity League to attend their annual silver tea on October 30th at the home of Mrs. Herman Mickel. Resolutions that will be voted upon at the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs Convention in Lafayette, La. were read to the club. Convention will be November 6th, 7th and 8th. Delegates from the Welcome Branch Book Club will be the president, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. A. J. Speer and Mrs. R. H. Dollar. Alternates will be Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. A. S. Gunter.

At the conclusion of the business the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson. In observance of Federation Day the theme "Our Constitutional Freedoms" was carried out by a round table in charge of Mrs. A. S. Gunter, chairman. Review of chapters one to eight "This American People" by Gerald Johnson was given by Mrs. J. T. Horton—the topic was "Feeddom of Conscience." In part she quoted — Freedom of conscience is for reasonable people, it rests not upon rigid logic but on rule of reason. Citizens must be able to know where freedom ends and oppression begins. Respect for conscience or religious liberty deeply embedded in American thinking, played a large part in tradition.

In the absence of Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. J. D. Petty read her paper entitled "Freedom of Enterprise". She stated — Between 1917 and 1933, that is within a period of sixteen years the world has seen the denial of the right to hoid private property swiftly followed by denial of the liberty of the worker in Germany, Italy, Japan and Russia. The Founding Fathers took the chance with splendid results; if their successors are still a free people, that policy is still good. Speaking on "Freedom of Inquiry" Mrs. A. S. Gunter said freedom of inquiry is for hopeful people.

Mrs. Leola Nixon spoke on "Freedom of Association" saying that freedom of association is for steady people. George Washington knew that every democracy in history up to his time, had been carried to an extreme that destroyed popular liberty. But, now, for 150 years the successful despot has yet to appear. The Confederacy, which comprised one third of the country, was subjected for some years to a rule by force and violence, but constitutional authority was not overthrown by mobs, but by organized military power.

Mrs. J. D. Petty's paper on "States Rights" quoted: "We think of the Constitution as a very great achievement in the art of government and regard it as such, but let us remember that it was adopted with extreme reluctance. It was a compromise throughout, and sixteen of the men who were in the convention that produced it were so disgusted that they refused to sign it.

Mrs. B. E. McWilliams stated on the tonic of "Freedom of Opportunity" — In the beginning this nation was tiny, remote, and poor, so what it did with regard to its own affairs made little difference to the rest of the world. Even as we grew stronger, but were still absorbed in the business of perfecting our system of government and subduing the continent, we inhabited the effect of our acts upon others was not of first importance. So we have no experience of the condition that confronts us. It is strictly a modern problem, almost the only great one that is wholly modern, wholly beyond the view of the founding fathers.

The author, Gerald W. Johnson, takes a new look at the basic principles on which this country was founded and examines them in the light of today's problems. He finds that our doubts and confusions now are much the same as those the Founding Fathers faced and solved with their brilliant conception of the American idea. This book carries a message of hope; so long as we do not lose sight of our fundamental beliefs, we have nothing to fear. Here is a primer of what America can mean to us, a vital and essential exposition of the ideas that made American greatness, that now as never before should inspire every thoughtful American.

At the conclusion of the program the entire assembly sang the National Anthem lead by Mrs. A. R. Doughty.

Refreshments of coffee and delicious frozen pie were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ralph Cain assisted by Mrs. James Eppinette, Mrs. W. H. Giles and Mrs. R. R. Griffith. Lovely arrangements of dahlias and roses were used throughout the rooms.

Reception Honors Father And Mrs. Frank S. Persons

The Parishners of the Christ Episcopal Church of Bastrop and the St. Andrews Church of Mer Rouge entertained with a reception in honor of Father and Mrs. Frank S. Persons at the Episcopal Parish House on Sunday afternoon, October 12 from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Father Persons has served the Christ Episcopal Church and the St. Andrews Church for the past eleven and one half years, and is leaving for Opelika, Ala. where he will serve as rector of the Emanuel Church. His brother, Gov. Gorden Persons, is at present the governor of Alabama.

The guests were greeted at the door by Father and Mrs. Persons as they entered the elaborately decorated parish house. Over 200 persons called during the reception.

The table, covered with an imported Irish linen cloth, was centered with a gorgeous centerpiece of golden mums and fruits. Yellow tapers glowed on each side of the centerpiece, adding to the beauty of the arrangement.

Mrs. A. N. Williams of Mer Rouge presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. C. G. Scott of Bastrop presided at the coffee service.

The children's table, arranged on the stage, was a unique miniature of the large table and was presided over by Mrs. L. E. Rawls.

Tea girls for this delightful occasion were the ladies of the Guild. They graciously mingled with the guests serving delicious sandwiches and dainty cakes.

Judge E. L. Gladney made a farewell speech, acting on behalf of the Christ Episcopal Church of Bastrop and St. Andrews Church of Mer Rouge, expressing the congregation's gratitude for Father and Mrs. Persons' services for the past eleven and one half years. He then presented them with a gorgeous silver tray, a gift from the congregation of Christ Church, and a matching silver tea pot, a gift from the St. Andrew congregation.

Father Persons then expressed his appreciation for the cooperation of his church members and for the lovely gifts and bid his members farewell.

THE HOME SHIFT
By Mildred Swift

Well -- as I take pen in hand to write you this epistle—we've still had no rain. Not only no rain but the cold, dry winds are making our plants still more uncomfortable. But isn't the weather beautiful — just gives you energy to do things in the house and yard.

Garden Rakins

I was talking to Mr. Roach last Sunday about the dry weather. He said — as all the other nursery men have — that he is discouraging shrub planting until we have some rains. Also, Mr. Roach said, "While waiting for the rains (???) work on the shrubbery beds where you plan to plant and transplant. Get some well rotted sawdust — compost of leaf mold and turn it under. Keep this wet and help it to decompose more. Then when planting time comes the shrubs will get up and get off in a hurry."

Just talked to Mrs. Bagwell. They were busy pruning back hibiscus and transplanting them to gallon buckets. It's time to take your plants up before the frosts come. Keep them in a warm place. They must have sun and must be kept watered during the winter. Mrs. Bagwell says you'll have blooms all through the winter. If you have a utility room with some sunny windows, that's an ideal place for the pots. If you have no place to keep your hibicus, mulch them heavily and take a chance on them getting through the winter. Be sure to take up some dirt with each plant when transplanting.

We've had a number of inquiries about planting winter grass if the lawn is sod with St. Augustine or Centipede. The winter grass protects the other grasses during the winter. Had you thought how much you get for your money when you plant winter grass? You get a six or seven months green carpet when there's so little green in the garden. Last spring the weather stayed cool so long my winter grass was green until May.

It's time to take up your Caladium bulbs before the frosts come. Dig them with no dirt, being careful not to cut the bulb. Let them dry thoroughly, tops and bulbs, then cut the tops off. Put them in a box of dry sand or peat moss. Keep the box in a warm place. Ruby Mitchell says she mulched her caladium bulbs and has kept them in the ground the last two years without losing them. I didn't have such luck, though.

Did You Know?

Local nurseries and seed stores have the pink, white and blue scilla bulbs. We have lots of the blue in the Twin Cities but few, if any, pink and white. That's good news to those people with gray houses. Scilla multiplies very fast, comes up every year, will bloom in semi-shade and is one of the few bulbs that likes acid soil.

Dates 'n Doins

You're invited to attend flower show school No. IV Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Northeast College Auditorium. You can get credit for this school even though you have not taken the previous courses I, II, III. Even if you're not interested in taking this for credit you'll want to hear Mr. Ira Nelson on camellias, iris and other bulbous plants. He'll give his demonstration Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock. You just must see Mrs. Fulton Murphy do flower arrangements Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The fee for each of those demonstrations is $1.50. If you're attending the three day school, register at 9:30. This invitation is extended to interested people in north Louisiana.

Wish I had room to tell you everything about Mr. Marshall Hicks lecture to the Monroe Garden Club on "Using the Garden to Decorate." Each color scheme was enhanced by a flower arrangement made by members of the club. With the drouth you'd wonder where the girls could find so much material. They used French mulberry, maple leaves, cat tails, princess feather, ageratum zinnias, chrysanthemums, fruit, wondering Jew, gladiolus, golden rod, magnolia leaves, dried asperdistra leaves and other foliage.

The cat tails had been sprayed in the most luscious colors by Maud Mayo and Jane Brown. And — those magnolia leaves. You'd never recognize them. They'd been specially treated, boiled in lye and dyed. They looked like lovely wisps of chiffon in colors of red, lavender, yellow, green, blue and white. The girls from St. Paul's Methodist Church will have the cat tails and magnolia leaves for sale on November 7 at their shrubbery and flower sale. I'll tell you more about that later, but it's worth marking that date on your calendar cause lots of us are going to be there when the doors open. From all accounts the crowds will be something like those at the nylon hose counters during the war.

Guess I've taken about all the space they'll give me for this time. See you next Sunday in this same column.

Delta Rho Delta Sorority Has Monthly Lecture Meeting

. V. Spatafora Speaks On 'Old Masters And Modern Art' At October Event

"Old Masters And Modern Art" was the subject chosen y J. V. Spatafora when he spoke to Delta Rho Delta mem- ers Monday evening. Mr. Spatafora, a newcomer on the cture program and who operates e Art Shop, obtained his BAA om Kansas City Art Institute and so degrees from Kansas City and uachita Universities.

The speaker, who illustrated with aintings of famous artists from ie renaissance through centuries what we today call Modern Art, id in part:

"Works of the Old Masters and odern Art are poles apart, and appreciate either of them with y certainty and understanding of eir different reasoning is neces- ry. One particular contrast of e two periods is the earlier be- f in mysticism or witchcraft and r present practice of psychiatry. oday knowledge has progressed the extent that we realize the istence of the subconscious. We ve all experienced the latter in r occasional dreams. But it was t so many years ago that this her mind, our subconscious, was ought to be controlled by good d evil spirits. A person whose nscious mind was overwhelmed y the subconscious was then ei- er revered as a prophet, or pos- ssed by the devil."

"Modern art is essentially a sub- ctive type of painting. That is, ie artists rely more on personal mbolic association than with the ore general symbols used by the ld Masters. Some modern artists se no material symbols at all. his pure abstract way of painting epends entirely on line, color and esign to express an emotion. This anner of painting is more closely kin to music than any other style painting. Similar to music it ortrays no concrete theme or bject, but allows the individual nagination to seek it's own level. he intangible quality only deepens ie mystery, and allows a person tire less quickly than he would gazing at a picture which is ore easily explained. The Old laster's style of painting falls into ie category of an objective type painting."

"During and before the renais- ance when illiteracy prevailed, the b of explaining history and re- gion was as much the artist's business as the statesman or priest. The artists had to illustrate things or scenes in the most liter- al fashion. Any haphazardness in a painting might lead to ideas not especially desired by either church or state; therefore, we find in the Old Master's a realism unexcelled in the whole course of art. Modern Art, to the contrary, thrives on the very substance which the Old Mas- ters neglected. The contemporary artists want nothing more than to stir up new ideas, or to excite in his audience certain truths which to the artist are basic of man and his environ."

Members and friends present to enjoy the lecture and to join in the lively discussion which followed were: Cathrine Lumbley, Inez Rob- inson, Elaine Knight, Elizabeth Scott, Mary Lee Whitaker, Marie Cascio, Clara Parmer, Marna Hy- man, Billy Blazier, Mary Russell, Lucille Coats, Bertha Patterson, Lillie Glenn, Ella Pearl Sutton, Mary Riser, Wilma Smith, Jean Dozier, Mamie Fields, Marie Wil- hite, Hermoine Driskell, Mary Eliz- abeth Stringer, Ruth Kennedy, Freeda Mickel, Mrs. Ida Metcalf, Mrs. LaVerne Riddle, Mary Louise Farr.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

News books continue to arrive at the Ouachita Parish Public Library at such a great rate that it is impossible to read all of those that appeal to one. Inglis Fletcher is one of the outstanding novelists who writes about the early days of the Colony of North Carolina. Her latest story is called "Queen's Gift." This is the seventh novel in the series. The year of this story in 1788 and the scene in Edenton, a little village on the Albemarle, whose thrilling history Mrs. Fletcher has used as the background of her earlier novels. In this story the people of the Albemarle who have been united in war are divided in peace. A constitution has been shaped in Philadelphia. Friend stands against friend in the bitter dissension over whether North Carolina shall ratify it and join the new union of states. Inglis Fletcher is at once master of realism and romance. "Queen's Gift" most ambitious and successful of her novels, reveals the foundations and distinction of our national character while it absorbs us in constant entertainment.

Lawrence Schoonover, who has made a name for himself as a historical novelists, has turned to the modern scene in his latest story "The Quick Brown Fox." This is the story of the jungle world of the advertising agencies, where the law of survival is paramount and one never misses an opportunity to twist a knife in the back of the other fellow. We see the contrast between the characters of Bill Gray and George Russell. It all ends well, but the pace is fast and furious.

There is a great deal of interest in South Africa at the present time. A fascinating collection of short stories dealing with this locale has just been received at the library. It is "This Was The Old Chief's Country" and the author is Doris Lessing. Readers of mystery stories will welcome the new title "Black Widow" by Patrick Quentin.

"Thelma" by Vera Caspary, the author of "Laura" is the story of a woman who was haunted all of her life by the fear that she or her daughter would have to return to poverty. This fear colored her thinking so that she became a heartless schemer. "Cradle of the Sun" by John Clagett is an outspoken, colorful piece of historical fiction which takes the reader back to the days of the Spanish Inquisition and the conquest of Yucatan. Love of beautiful women and warfare dominate the life of Juan de Moncada and determine his fate. This story makes interesting reading.

"Men at Arms" by Evelyn Waugh, is a story of British army life, which will probably appeal to a limited audience. It is a story that will probably disappoint the fans of Evelyn Waugh.

Since we have just finished "Oil Progress Week," there could hardly be a more appropriate book than "Spindletop" by James A. Clark and Michel T. Halbouty. This is the story of the Spindletop oil field, the discovery that changed the face of Texas. It is the story of the men who dreamed and dared and it contains a wealth of interesting technical information. It will be of special interest to men.

Several new biographies are also among this weeks acquisitions. "J. P. Marquand, Esquire" by Philip Hamburger is a fascinating although satirical biography of one of the most interesting figures in modern literature. Mr. Hamburger shows how Marquand has used his own experiences in his novels and really gives us a fascinating picture of the man.

Many people read "The Glitter and the Gold" by Consuelo Vanderbilt Balsan, when it appeared as a serial in the Ladies Home Journal. However, the book contains many incidents left out of the magazine. This is a fascinating picture of the way of life of the very rich.

James Norman Hall who made his greatest success as the coauthor of the books in the Bounty series, "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Men Against the Sea" and "Pitcairn's Island" has written the story of his life in a fascinating story which he calls "My Island Home". This is an interesting picture of a man and a way of life, far removed from most of us. If you like to read about faraway places, this is your book.

J. K. Lasser is the recognized expert on income taxes. His latest book "Your Income Tax, 1953 Edition" is now available at the library. Special news for the working woman is "Be Your Own Guest" by Hale MacLaren. This is a cookbook of recipes and menus that can be prepared before the guests arrive. It is really an excellent guide.

Southside P.-T. A. Meets In Bastrop

The South Side P.-T. A. met for a meeting Tuesday evening, October 14 at 7 o'clock at the South Side School auditorium in Bastrop.

Plans were discussed for the Halloween Carnival to be given at the school. There was also a discussion of the new cafeteria, which will be opened at the South Side School on October 27.

The South Side Choir rendered six beautiful selections, under the direction of Mrs. Grimes and Mrs. Spurlock.

Mrs. Lloyd Resweber then introduced Mr. "Red" Swanson of the Louisiana Training Institute in Monroe. Mr. Swanson gave a very interesting speech on the boys school. He expressed the importance of the honor system among the boys. Those having no demerits will be taken for an over night trip to Baton Rouge this week end for the football game.

Over 100 parents, grandparents and teachers attended the meeting.

BASKIN WOMAN'S CLUB HAS OCTOBER MEETING

Mrs. Selma Hoggatt, Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Mrs. J. P. Frellsen were hostesses for the Baskin Woman's Club, October 2, 1952, when it met in the home of Mrs. J. E. Penton.

The topic for the evening was "Music in Louisiana." Miss Elizabeth Landis, Franklin Parish music supervisor, was the guest speaker. She divided the subject into two divisions: the first being a discussion of the three types of Louisiana music, classical, jazz, and folk songs.

Among the classical writers of Louisiana is Louis Moreau Gottschalk, born in New Orleans and at the age of 13 was sent abroad to study in Paris. Miss Landis said that Gottschalk became the favorite of royalty and aristocracy. He returned to the United States for his debut in New York in 1853. The rest of his life was divided between the United States and South America.

The compositions of Gottschalk include two operas, two symphonies, various works for full orchestra, 12 songs, and 60 piano compositions. His music was characterized by southern "local color" and in later periods his creations contained use of tunes, rhythms, and harmonies native to the music of creoles and Negroes of Louisiana.

Miss Landis explained that jazz was definitely a type of music today and it had its origin in New Orleans. Of course, the noted Louisiana jazz professional is Louis Armstrong. She only mentioned him because he will be discussed later in a future meeting.

Last, but by no means least, come folk songs. She defined folk songs as being songs which are handed down from generation to generation. Each generation changes the song to fit their times and particular feelings. Folk songs express desires and emotional feelings of a particular people. Negro spirituals have taken a definite place in music today.

For the last division of her talk, Miss Landis rendered music. She played Gottschalk's "The Last Hope" and "The Dying Poet" on the piano. She chose several folk song selections and played these on the phonograph for the group.

Dvorak, when he came to America thought so much of the American folk songs and Negro spirituals, that he composed a symphony in which he uses this music. Miss Landis played the first movement of his "New World Symphony" in which it was evident that he used the famous old Negro spirituals and folk songs of the south in the background.

Delicious refreshments which consisted of lemon ice box pie and coffee was served by the hostesses.

Miss Elizabeth Landis, Mrs. J. E. Penton, Miss Geraldine Hathaway, and Miss Jane Lyles were welcome guests. Members present were: G. M. Baskin, Mrs. Mary E. Le Fevre, Mrs. J. P. Frellsen, Miss Opal Brand, Miss Hattie Brothers, Mrs. R. E. Roark, Miss Estelle Lawrence, Mrs. F. E. Lyles, Mrs. A. M. Brand, Mrs. Lonez Shipman, Mrs. Alice Mock, Miss Kathlyn Goforth, Mrs. R. P. Stewart, Mrs. Selma Hoggatt, Mrs. Ella Womble, Mrs. Lucille Black, Mrs. Janie Goforth, Mrs. R. D. Davis, Mrs. C. M. Eppinette, and Miss Lou Ferrington.

Miss Christine Higginbotham October Bride Of Samuel Crain

Bridal Couple Exchange Vows At Loch Arbor Baptist Church In Swartz

A wedding of beauty and charming simplicity was solemnized at the Loch Arbor Baptist Church in Swartz when Miss Christine Higginbotham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith of Swartz, became the bride of Samuel Crain, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Crain, of Bastrop. The Rev. C. Y. Higginbotham, of Roxie, Miss., uncle of the bride, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The nuptial music was rendered by Miss Billie Jean Bates, who played appropriate selections while the guests were seated by ushers, Wesley Jinks and George Hare. Soft music was heard while the candles were lighted by Miss Betty Landrum who also sang in lovely voice "I Love You Truly" and "Always".

Baskets of white gladioli, emerald leaves, clematis sprays and cathedral candles in floor standards, formed the decorations at the altar. The reserved pews were marked with white ribbon, a large satin bow served as a marker for the church Bible.

The bridesmaids, Miss Eloise Whitten, Miss Margaret Carr, and Miss Lora Willis were gowned in net dresses fashioned in shades of ice blue and pink over taffeta forming bouffant skirts. The full stoles which covered the strapless bodices completed the effect. Their bouquets were crescent arrangements of tinted asters. The maid of honor, Miss Maurine Hare was dressed identical to the bridesmaids in a lovely shade of pink. Her bouquet was an arrangement of tinted asters.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, was lovely in her bridal gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a basque bodice with long fitted sleeves which ended in tapers over the hand. The bodice featured a yoke of nylon tulle, appliqued with rows of tiny seed pearls and buttoned down the back with tiny self covered buttons. The motif was repeated at the throat as a necklace was formed of the tiny pearls.

Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of tuberoses and valley lilies centered with a single white orchid.

The bridegroom had as his best man his cousin, Roy Smith, of Bastrop.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith chose a pink two - piece dress with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The bridegroom's mother was wearing a navy dress with matching accessories. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the church annex. The refreshment table with its draped lace cover was centered with an arrangement of asters, iced punch was served from a crystal punch bowl by Mrs. Maurice Hare and the lovely tiered wedding confection, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. Vallye Willis.

Miss Maurine Hare had charge of the bride's book.

After the reception the bride changed to a black faille suit with matching accessories, which she wore with the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The couple then left for a short trip. On their return they will reside in Bastrop, where the bridegroom is employed.

Following the business meeting the program was presented by the chairman, Mrs. Jett.

Mrs. Neal McHenry conducted a quiz for homemakers. To open her quiz she made pertinent observations between the homemakers and the government. Typical examples of housekeeping in government were selected, then over 100 women were asked how they'd handle similar problems. Some of the questions asked were: "How much coffee do you keep in reserve?" "How much black pepper does each member of your family consume?" and many other questions. In every case the answers of the club members tallied with those given by the original 100 women who took the test. The actual cost to Uncle Sam was averaged from 40 to 50 times as much as the housewife considered ample.

Mrs. R. L. Wood then reviewed "Mr. President" by William Hillman. She said in part: "Mr. President is certain to be one of the most talked of books in many years. The author, William Hillman, former chief European correspondent for International News Service is White House correspondent for Mutual Broadcasting System. President Truman said to Mr. Hillman: "I want the people to know the presidency as I have experienced it and then know me as I am." He then made available his diaries, memoranda and correspondence revealing his unrehearsed private thoughts. Mr. Truman with characteristic candor spoke out in numerous interviews as no president ever has in office, permitting himself to be quoted directly.

Mrs. Jett and Mrs. A. S. Tidwell served delicious confections to Mrs. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. Roy Q. Cole Mrs. Neal W. McHenry, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. F. L. Smith, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell and Mrs. Irving Wolff.

Girl Scout News

A dark sky pin-pointed with stars a bright fire reflecting light upon the faces of 17 girls in horseshoe formation - this was the campfire setting for the investiture ceremony for Betty Johnson, a new scout in Troop 10, who had completed Tenderfoot requirements. Mrs. A. W. Lewis, leader, welcomed Betty into Troop 10, after which she awarded second class rank badge to Ellen Wedemeyer. Mrs. Lewis gave sincere praise to troop members for their accomplishments of the past year, and as a personal gift presented each girl with the membership star for the year just completed.

The ceremony concluded a campfire of singing and games and was the highlight of a two - day troop camp under the leadership of Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Barry Yeldell, and Mrs. A. C. Lea.

Inquiring further as to the activities of those two days, we found that the troop had had other exciting experiences. One was Saturday morning's hike, when the girls branched off from their favorite route and found grapevine swings, low - growing limbs to climb and a huge fallen tree which was fun to walk up and down. To make the hike more interesting, leaders had made it a nature quest, with lists of items for observation.

In true Girl Scout fashion the girls did all the cooking and cleaning up at mealtime, following kaper charts. On the cool mornings of both days they cooked breakfast outdoors in the sunshine, breadtwists Saturday and pancakes on tin can stoves Sunday. It was their first experience with the latter, and the girls found it lots of fun. Pancakes never tasted so good before.

To mark the day, the girls gathered Sunday morning in the shade of a beautiful oak on the grounds for a service which they themselves had planned.

Their leaders say that the girls took a great deal of the responsibility for the planning of the week end, each patrol planning a meal and helping with shopping.

Several of the girls who had been practicing knots and lashing tried their hand at lashing a table for the outdoor kitchen. Did a good job, too.

The girls feel they were lucky in another way. They were first to have warm showers and to enjoy the warmth of the gas stoves recently given to the camp by Brown Container Company and installed just last week.

Troop 10 is registering with the National Girl Scout organization for its fifth year, with many of the original members of the troop still enrolled. Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Yeldell, and Mrs. Lea are leaders, while Mrs. O. M. Fletcher serves as chairman of the troop committee. Others on the committee are: Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mrs. J. E. Higgins, Mrs. A. D. Graham, Mrs. C. R. Simpson.

The following girls make up the troop: Joan Dillon, Lucy Ann Fletcher, Patricia Graham, Martha Higgins, Sherry Harrist, Betty Johnson, Saundra Knowles, Sandra Lea, Lynne Lewis, Patty Prophit, Ruth Johnson, Betty Slaughter, Sandra Simpson, Ann Trousdale, Frances Yeldell, Ellen Wedemeyer, Katie Young. Congratulations to these Scouts! Wonder if they realize how lucky they are to have such good leaders who will take them camping and help them benefit from the total camp program.

Troop 40 is at camp this week end. Will let you know what we hear from them.

Know what next Sunday is? Why, it begins Girl Scout Week, of course. There will be green uniforms and brown uniforms at most of the churches in the Twin Cities.

Again on Girl Scout Sunday the camp committee and the council are holding open house at camp from 2:00 until 5:00 and inviting families to make it the objective of an afternoon drive. Remember two years ago when visitors came out there was only a slab of concrete and a pile of lumber. Last year on the same date the building was complete, but there was no fence to keep out the hogs, no heat of any kind in the building.

If next Sunday is cold, the camp chairman, promises a fire in the fireplace, literally a warm welcome.

It's always a good idea to tell readers how to reach camp. Drive approximately one half mile past the end of the bridge at Sterlington. Turn right on gravel road at Girl Scout sign. Route is marked by signs all the way to camp. See you there next Sunday, shall we?

Mrs. White presented Mrs. E. C. Gibson who gave an inspirational address on American Citizenship of Today. She said in part: "In our jittery world of today we cannot predict what turn affairs will take. We do know as club women we must present, work out and establish certain ideas and ideals that are good for us and our neighbors. We are compelled to make choices as to what and where we shall end our efforts." The choices she recommended were a philosophy of life based on love and wisdom and a theology or the ideas of God. " We must cultivate a love for wise living and in a conscience void of offence toward God and man. Our ideas of God governs our choice of wise living.

"To be a good American citizen we must be willing for others to have something as good as we have. To live wisely is to choose a philosophy built on a theology that will stand. This is the only choice that will have a spiritual value which will endure. Cultivate the habit of faith in God's promises and watch the results."

THIRD NURSING IS REPORTED

Third Group To Enroll At Ouachita Vocational School

The Ouachita Valley Vocational School will open its third class of practical nursing on Tuesday, November 4, S. W. Jackson, director, has announced. The class will be open to all white persons 18 years or older.

The school opened its first class in practical nursing on March 3 of this year. It now has 19 students in the St. Francis Sanitarium and 12 students in the laboratory located in the school's main plant in West Monroe. The laboratory classes are for instruction in theory and pre-clinical experience.

Jackson stated that qualifications for the school are as follows: the person must be 18 years old and must be able to furnish the required school records and pass a physical examination. If under 25 years old, the student must have completed two years of high school work. If over 25 years of age, he must have graduated from a grammar school.

All persons who are interested may apply at the school, located on Slack Street, West Monroe, or call 3-3491. Jackson said applications should be made now so that school records and physical examinations may be completed before the opening date.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service, Kenneth Fink, Director

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 18 — Results of the latest (fourth) nationwide survey of voter preference for president made by Princeton Research Service's United States Poll, show Republican Dwight Eisenhower running ahead of Democrat Adlai Stevenson by a margin of 5 per cent.

Princeton Research Service's United States Poll staff reporters put the following question to a representative cross-section of the nation's voters, 'Right now, which of the two candidates—Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican—do you personally favor for president" The tally of the responses

Nationwide

Eisenhower 47.5 per cent.
Stevenson 40.0 per cent.
Undecided 12.5 per cent

All those who were "Undecided" on the first question were then asked, "Well, if you had to decide right now, which of the two would you rather see win—the Republican candidate, Eisenhower, or the Democratic candidate, Stevenson?"

Answers to the second question showed Eisenhower, 3.5 per cent Stevenson, 6 per cent; still undecided, 3 per cent.

Combining these results with the response on the first question, the figures become:

Nationwide

Eisenhower 51 per cent.
Stevenson 46 per cent.
Undecided 3 per cent.

A comparison of today's findings with those reported by the United States Poll on October 1, shows that Eisenhower has registered a 1 per cent loss; Stevenson a 1 per cent gain.

The majority of the "Undecided" voters found in today's poll are in the manual worker occupations and among those with less formal schooling—groups which over the years, Princeton Research Service has found, lean strongly toward the Democratic Party.

Should all the "Undecided" voters go Democratic in this election, today's survey figures would be Eisenhower, 51 per cent; Stevenson, 49 per cent.

Here is the trend as shown by the United States Poll reporters since August 17:

Today Eisenhower 51 per cent, Stevenson 46 per cent, Undecided 3 per cent; October 1 Eisenhower 52 per cent, Stevenson 45 per cent, Undecided 3 per cent; August 31 Eisenhower 52.5 per cent, Stevenson 45.5 per cent, Undecided 2 per cent; August 17 Eisenhower 51 per cent, Stevenson 47 per cent, Undecided 2 per cent.

From the above it can be seen that Eisenhower is running as strong as he did in mid-August and that Stevenson is running 1 per cent behind the mid-August figures.

A study of the above figures also gives every indication that the result on Nov. 4 is likely to be very close. At the same time, it must be pointed out that Dwight Eisenhower has led in each of the four "trial heats" made by the United States Poll.

A new United States Poll report will appear in this newspaper on Wednesday.

Accidents are the leading cause of death among children from one to 15 years of age, killing some 10,000 in this age group each year.

The Skillet Club

Want A Hinterland Treat? Try "Salzburger Nockerlin"

By Uncle Frank Kohler (Chief Skilleteer)

Captain C. W. Geenen, Skilleteer of the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Sun-Telegraph Chapter, sends us his recipe for crab cakes, and these we did with prescribed equipment and found them terrific. We brought up the rear with "Salzburger Nockerln" (you pronounce it) from Skilleteer Karl H. Frederick, Trenton (N. J.) Times Chapter.

The captain prefers claw meat for his crab cake recipe and so do we, but we've done it with all types of fresh, as well as frozen, and canned crab. But you lucky members down yonder where crabs thrive know best what to do. Anyway, 1 pound crab meat; 1 egg; 1 slice bread, crumbed; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1 tablespoon mayonnaise; 2 tablespoons butter, softened; ¼ cup minced celery; ¼ cup minced green pepper; ¼ cup minced onion; 1 teaspoon MSG; salt and pepper; more crumbs.

The "more crumbs" are for coating the patties which we are about to fabricate out of the above material. Place all in a bowl, roll your sleeves, and go to it. When they are well mixed, form them into patties, then coat them with the extra crumbs, and chill well in the refrigerator. Fry the cakes gently in the skillet, in plenty of bacon fat if you wish, until golden brown. Turn them several times and watch to avoid burning. The results are way above par. We served the cakes with potato chips, chilled sliced tomatoes and young, tender salted cucumber sticks. And then, "Salzburger Nockerln"! ! !

For the "Nockerln" recipe use 3 eggs, separated; 3 teaspoons flour; 3 teaspoons sugar (if this is to be a dessert — if it is to be served as an entree with cheese, sea food or the like, use salt in place of sugar, and less of it). Whip egg yolks, flour and sugar thoroughly together. Whip whites separately until very stiff, and fold them together with the yolks. Pour the mixture into a hot greased skillet, and fry until golden brown. Watch closely, and turn it once. We served the "Nockerln" folded over apple sauce and dusted with powdered sugar. It may be rolled, too.

Skillet Club Apple Sauce — Peel, core and slice 8 green apples. Boil 1 cup water and 1 cup sugar with several large pieces of lemon peel for 7 minutes in a large sauce pan. Then remove lemon, add apples, and stir constantly, because they burn easily. When the apples are well cooked down, remove from fire and season to taste with cinnamon and, if necessary, use a little lemon juice.

We have received more than 20 recipes for meat balls, and-or meat sauce and spaghetti. This seems to be a favorite. Please be patient, members, and the clinic will ultimately come up with something that, we hope, will merit your consideration and approval.

Send your favorite recipe with your address and a stamped addressed envelope to this newspaper and become a life member — but we hope it isn't meat balls and spaghetti! But even if it is, we'll send your membership card immediately.

Trinity Lutheran Church On Air

This Sunday morning, Oct. 19th, at 11:00, the regular morning service of Trinity Lutheran Church will be broadcast over radio station KNOE.

The Rev. Harold Reinhardt, pastor of Trinity congregation, will conduct the service. His message, based on St. Paul's Epistle to the Colossians 3, 1-10, will center on the theme — "The Center of Our Attention."

Reverend Reinhardt stated that "The Bible is very emphatic when it says 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you'." The pastor went on to say, "One of the hardest things for many Christians to learn is to give their first-love to God and His way of life and His offer of Salvation, and to subdue to second place their love of the things of this life. God cannot be relegated to a one-day-a-week proposition. Christ must fill every moment of our lives."

Constitutional Amendments

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Amendment No. 20 Act No. 346 Of 1952
Veterans' Homestead Exemption Extended

Act No. 346 (House Bill No. 589) of 1952 extends the homestead exemption of $5,000.00 of assessed value, of the homestead (consisting of a tract of land or two or more tracts of land with a residence on one tract and a field, pasture or garden on the other tract or tracts, not exceeding 160 acres, buildings and appurtenances) owned and occupied by every veteran of World War II and every person who has served in the Armed Forces in Korea, who is the head of a family or person having a mother or father, or a person or persons dependent on him for support, and was honorably discharged, or is the widow, orphan child or children or legal representative of such a veteran.

The exemption begins on the date the veteran takes title to the homestead and runs for 5 years, provided that the right to the exemption begins with the year 1947 and expires at the end of the year 1959.

The effect of the amendment is to extend the exemption as to World War II veterans from the end of 1954 to the end of 1959, and to add the Korean veterans to the persons entitled to it.

CLAIBORNE METHODIST CHURCH
Calhoun Road

F. L. Hearne, pastor
J. O. Fleming, church school superintendent
The wise man never spoke truer words than when he said, "Where there is no vision the people perish." We live by our vision. A man without vision is a man without hope and a man without hope is a man without life. He whose thoughts and aspirations are bounded by the narrow horizon of today, who has no vision and plan for what lies beyond it, is to be pitied. On the other hand, where there is vision there is life. It is the vision that quickens the pulse and rouses the spirit and sends men forth to victory.

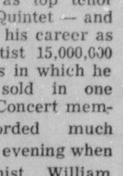
A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO
By J. Paul Hewitt



There's nothing new about the mass appeal of "sob singers" like Johnnie Ray. The main difference between the old-style sob song and the new is that in the older kind the hero married the girl but she usually died in the second verse. Today he doesn't win her, but broken-heartedly sobs and moans that although they will remain far apart "you will always be my inspiration."
But back in the 1890's sob artists were singing such tear-compelling ballads as "After the Ball," "Say Au Revoir But Not Goodbye" and "In the Baggage Coach Ahead." Then, of course, there were those tearful ditties about a little lost child such as "Please, Mr. Conductor, Don't Put Me Off the Train!" And many about abandoned or ill-treated children: "Always in the Way" and "Why Don't They Play With Me?"
One of the great artists of those days was Will Oakland, a countertenor who is still living—his voice is virtually unchanged. Gifted with an almost unbelievably high voice, Oakland could make an audience cry with his renditions of "The Curse of an Aching Heart" and "Who Will Care For Mother Now?" He made thousands of records — solos, duets and as top tenor of the Heidelburg Quintet — and during the peak of his career as a free - lance artist 15,000,000 discs and cylinders in which he took part were sold in one month. Twin City Concert members will be afforded much pleasure tomorrow evening when the eminent pianist, William Kapel, makes his appearance in concert at Neville auditorium. For people who like to create their own musical sounds, we offer the Steinway piano . . . one of the most tone perfect instruments known to man. HEWITT, INC., 216 Grammont. Phone: 2-1491.

THE SENSATIONAL STATESMENS QUARTET, one of the three groups appearing at Neville auditorium Tuesday night, October 21.

3 QUARTETS TO SING AT NEVILLE

Blackwood, Statesmen's And Rangers Groups To Be Presented

The famous Blackwood Brothers quartet is bringing to Neville auditorium this Tuesday night, October 21, two of America's great quartets, the sensational Statesmen's Quartet from Atlanta, Ga., and the Rangers Quartet from Dallas, Tex. The three groups will put on a four - hour program of hymns, gospel and spiritual songs.
The Rangers Quartet will have back, singing with them, what is said to be America's lowest bass, Arnold Hyles. Arnold has been out of the quartet for the past two years because of a terrible accident that took the life of Erman Slater the second tenor in the quartet. Arnold was broken up so badly that doctors gave him a very slim chance to live and said if he lived that he would never be able to walk or sing again. After going through seven operations and spending 14 months in the hospital, God has permitted Arnold to again take his place in the quartet. Singing the second tenor part in the quartet will be Jimmy Jones, first tenor Denver Crumpler and Vernon Hyles, singing the lead. At the piano for the Rangers will be David Reese.
By popular demand the Blackwood Brothers are bringing the sensational Statesmen Quartet back to Monroe. The Statesmen have beyond a shadow of a doubt become Monroe's favorite quartet and Hovie Lister, manager and piano player for the Statesmen states that Monroyans haven't seen anything yet as to what the Statesmen have in store for them Tuesday night. They have several new numbers that feature that sensational baritone Jake Hess. Big Chief Jim Weatherington will thrill you in the unique way he makes those bass runs.
The Blackwood Brothers Quartet will have a new first tenor making his first appearance in Monroe, as Dan Husky left the quartet to form a quartet of his own.
This program is being sponsored by the Ouachita Gospel Singing Club and proceeds go to promote singing schools here each year. Tickets are on sale at Walgreen Drug Store in Monroe and at Hinton's Barber shop in West Monroe. A seating plan of Neville Auditorium is at each location so that you may select the seat of your choice. The public is invited to hear the three groups Tuesday evening at 4:30 on radio station KLIC.

It's Your Deal

Solitaire Is Relaxing Game

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

There comes a time in every man's life when he must play solitaire. Maybe you're waiting for the election returns and can't bear to sit still. Or perhaps you're taking a long train journey by yourself, and reading on trains hurts your eyes. There are dozens of reasons, and they're all good.

Solitaire isn't a single game, to be sure. There are dozens of them: hard easy, simple layout, complicated layout, over in a few minutes, or consuming an hour or more. You play the kind of game that suits your mood of the moment.

One of the simplest varieties of solitaire is sometimes called Accordion, and sometimes called Idiot's Delight. It doesn't take much skill, but you don't really have to be an idiot to find it delightful.

Shuffle an ordinary deck and turn up the cards one by one, side by side. If a card is the same denomination (for example, if both are kings) or of the same suit as the card next to it, you can move it on top of the card at the left.

Likewise if a card of the same denomination or the same suit as the card third to the left, you can put it on top of the card three to the left. When you lift a card for this purpose you pick up any cards that may be underneath it and move the whole pile at once.

Let's take a simple example. You begin by turning up ace of spades, king of hearts, queen of diamonds, and jack of clubs, let us say. No action so far, because all cards are of different suit and different denomination.

Your next card is the jack of spades. You may put it on top of the jack of clubs. Now you have a pile headed by the jack of spades, and you can move that two-card pile three to the left on top of the ace of spades. This leaves you with three piles: jack of spades, king of hearts, and queen of diamonds.

This process continues until you have dealt out the entire deck. The object is to get all the cards into one pile.

There's a little skill, since sometimes you have a choice of play. But you can't do very much to control your fate. Still, it's a rather soothing game when you have something on your mind and want to keep mildly busy.

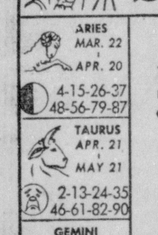
Good Adverse Neutral

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My ailing sister lives with me; she pays her own way and is quite a help to me in household chores. My son and daughter also live with us.

The problem concerns my five married sons, who say that, as long as their aunt is with me, they will not visit us. I love my children and don't know what to do. Should I tell my sister to get a home of her own? When I visit my children, they never make me very welcome. I have been on my own for twenty eight years, brought up my children alone and now, though I have been sick for the last ten years, they give me very little attention. I don't ask any support from them, though they are all well off and could easily spare money for the doctor and medicine bills I find it so hard to meet.



N. T.

ANSWER: Obviously, your sons are offering a very flimsy excuse by claiming that it is the presence of their aunt that keeps them away from your home. Since they appear little interested in your welfare otherwise, they are very unlikely to become devoted if you put your sister out. Having her with you is a comfort and help; don't give up something you are sure of for a possibility of more attention from your sons. Your chances of getting it are mighty slim.

THEY ARE INGRATES

You certainly have a prize collection of ungrateful offspring. About all you can do is pray that God will open their eyes to the great wrong they are doing.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for six years, and have a child of 4. I am four years older than my husband, who is 23. He thinks he is too young to settle down and has been going out every night alone, coming in at all hours with no explanation. He says a wife's place is in the home while he has every right to do as he pleases. We have been quarreling so much that my child is becoming nervous.

MRS. B. B.

ANSWER: The mathematics of your case appalls me. At 21, you married a boy of 17 and expected him to assume the responsibilities and obligation of married life! Surely you were old enough to know better! He was irresponsible then, and is now; there's little likelihood of improvement.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a group of 14-year-old boys and girls. A few months ago the brother of one of us opened an ice-cream parlor. At first, we all went in and there were no complaints from anyone. Then a group of kids from all over town began trooping in. That's where trouble began. They were rowdies, roughnecks and wise guys (boys and girls). Then we weren't allowed to go there any more. We all live in apartments and we can't gather together in each other's houses since the neighbors complain of the least little noise. Our neighborhood center is also overrun with the same sort of kids who took over the ice-cream parlor. The question is, where can we go to dance and have a little fun without running into the wrong sort of people?

A. S.

ANSWER: Unfortunately, objectionable groups such as you mention do have the unpleasant habit of taking over any gathering center started by nice boys and girls. I have seen many fine community dances ruined the same way. Why not try taking your problem to the pastor of your church or, if you belong to different churches, approach each one. Ask him if he wouldn't sponsor weekly dances for you youngsters, and you will promise to keep the hall clean and tidy. I do hope you can find an agreeable center for your activities.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephone Lowman

If your figure doesn't fit the ready-made garments in the store, you might try making your own.

What A Fine Problem, She Looks Too Young

It is funny how people never know when they are lucky. After answering "Why Grow Old?" mail for a number of years I thought I had heard about every problem known to men and women and psychiatrists.

I had just completed a morning of dictation which included such questions as blackheads in the ears, how to hold a husband and the record time for milking a cow (this writer was going to enter a contest) when along came this letter from a woman who has an inferiority complex because she looks so much younger than she is.

Let me quote:

"I am 42 years old, 5 feet, 1½ inches tall and weight 104 pounds. I am one of those unfortunate women who do not look their age. People treat me as though I were a child. Younger women call me "dear" and "honey." If I am in a gathering made up of those my own age I shut up like a clam.

I Feel Silly

"I have a terrible time with clothes! Salesladies try to sell me things a teenager would swoon over. I wear a size eleven dress. I feel silly in something like that and if I get something in a mature line I look like my husband's mother. He looks like a kid.

"At my son's wedding this month my husband and I were taken to be the brother and sister-in-law of the groom instead of his parents. People meeting us for the first time seem shocked that we are the mother and father of nine children, five of them teenagers, a son who spent thirteen months in Korea and a six-foot son in the army in Germany.

"What should I do about my looks and clothing?"

Hold onto them! I know what my readers are thinking because I am thinking it, too. It would be fun, coping with that problem. Yet strangely, it is a problem. It is somewhat like the man who is not given an important post even if he is equipped for it, because he looks too youthful. Politicians do better if they have a broken nose or something.

Clothes Should Enlarge

The question of clothes for the small woman, especially the one who looks young, is drastic. If she can have them made it would be fine for it is difficult to locate charming things for middle-age in small sizes. This reader and those like her require clothes which add to their size. Lines and ornamentation should go up and down. Hats should have height. They should never wear belts of contrasting color. They are better off without any belts or at least they should use very narrow ones.

For the middle-aged woman, lovely materials and simple lines are essential.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clothes to Suit Your Personality and Figure," No. 54 send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Friday Dish Towel Monday. Doesn't. Upset. This Writer."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. A survey by the late psychologist, William Marston, showed that a majority of men prefer "brunettes with blue eyes." While blue and brown clothes are not considered a good combination unless in very particular shades, a brunette face, looking out with big blue yes from under a wavy mass of brown hair—Boy—is sure a bundle of cheesecake! Still, other combinations melt even columnists.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes. My beloved friend, the late biologist Charles B. Davenport told me that for some time before birth an infant's head is very wide compared to its length. Shortly before birth, the head grows narrower, but immediately after birth, it widens again. As the child grows the head once more becomes narrower, and at eighteen, it is only about two-thirds as wide as it is long. At last, we see why we have so many narrow-minded adults!

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. If one never does anything in a place but work, he forms the habit of working there. Such a strong connection is formed that merely sitting down starts him off. It's not so important that all work be done there as that the place be reserved for nothing but work. If your desk or work place is used for reading papers, playing cards, gabfests, etc., the habit is broken.

The Matthuettes' parade for oil progress week proved a great success. Mrs. Raymond Sweet, athletic director at the school, and in charge of the pep squad, felt at the close of the public performance that her efforts with the girls' in their drill work during the last few days were surely not in vain.

From all indications the Lil Mat publication of the St. Matthew's High School department will top the list in interesting articles, stories, and other features when it comes off press in mid-December. This year the staff is issuing Lil Mat as a literary magazine carrying the work of the various talented students in the school. Watch for Lil Mat! !

LAYMEN DAY IS SET ON SUNDAY

W. D. Cotton, Rayville, Will Fill Pulpit Of 1st Methodist

Layman's Day will be observed Sunday at the 10:50 a.m. service at the First Methodist Church and W. D. Cotton, of Rayville, will be the guest speaker.

The laymen of the church will take charge of the service. I. C. Strickland, church lay leader, will preside. A. J. McCready will offer the morning prayer, and L. H. Leverett and R. W. Irby will read the scripture lessons.

Mr. Cotton is a past district governor of International Kiwanis, a former state senator, and a recent member of the Methodist jurisdictional conference. He is serving as associate district lay leader of the Monroe district. He will speak on "Methodist Men Building the Kingdom."

Dr. H. L. Johns, pastor, announced that the 8:30 early communion service will be conducted as usual, and at the 7:30 p.m. "friendly hour" a feature movie, "We've A Story to Tell," will be shown. All are cordially invited.

GIRL SCOUT'S WEEK SET OCT. 26

Open House Will Be Held During Afternoon At Headquarters

On Sunday afternoon, October 26, the opening day of Girl Scout Week, the Scout council and the camp committee are holding open house at the Girl Scout troop camp from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock.

In issuing an invitation to the public to drive out to see the site and building, Mrs. Harrell Webster, recently appointed camp chairman says, "Annually, we set aside a day when we invite the citizens of our community to come to see what they have done to help Scouting. It was through the efforts of civic clubs, with Kiwanis starting the ball to rolling, and civic - minded individuals that the camp has been made a reality."

Mrs. Webster adds that the distance is just right for a Sunday afternoon drive for the family, from youngest to oldest, that there will be a fire on the hearth and a warm welcome to all who come.

Within the past several months several major improvements have been made at camp; the fireplace as result of efforts of the Pilot Club, gas lines and connections made by P. C. Landers, gas stoves donated by Slade Brown of Brown Container Company, the final painting of the outside by the N. L. Huckabee family, table tops and benches by the Business and Professional Women's Club, a dozen steel cots from the Altrusa Club, and a pump house with the help of the Kiwanis Club.

A group of Scouts will raise the American flag on the camp flagpole at 2:30 and lower it at 5:00 as the only scheduled activity. Visitors will be free to inspect the building and tour the grounds, coming and going as they like.

The council hopes that many families will take advantage of this opportunity to see the camp for the first time or to see how much it has been improved. Two years ago on Girl Scout Sunday many went to see the site of the building, which at that time consisted of a concrete slab and a pile of lumber. Last year the building had roof and walls, water and electricity, but no fence, cots, mattresses, or other necessities.

Following are fool - proof directions for reaching camp: Cross the bridge at Sterlington. One half mile from end of bridge turn right on gravel road marked by a Girl Scout sign which faces on-coming traffic. From there to camp, signs mark the route, which is about five miles farther. Signs at camp will show where to park.

SO. SIDE CHURCH MAKING GROWTH

In Three Months Has Gone Ahead Fast; Rev. Joyner, Pastor

On July 13th with Rev. W. H. Giles as the district superintendent and Lea Joyner as pastor, the Southside Methodist Church was organized after four weeks preparation. On this day, 125 members were received in the church at the Missouri Pacific Booster Hall.

Immediately plans were made for the construction of a new building. On August 3 a ground breaking ceremony was held on the new lots purchased by the First Methodist Church last year under the leadership of Dr. A. M. Serex and on August 4 construction began under the supervision of W. C. Salley Construction Co. after 16 carpenter days the building was completed and on August 31 the first service was held in the new church. We now have 180 members and a building valued at approximately $20,000.00 plus two lots that have been purchased for a parsonage in the near future valued at $1100.00. The lots are paid for and belong to the church.

The church today is operating with a full program.

The Sunday School with Mrs. G. F. Snapp as the superintendent was organized on August 31 and today 127 teachers and pupils are enrolled with an attendance far above the average for a newly organized school. This group meets each Sunday morning at 10:45 a.m.

The W. S. C. S. with Mrs. W. O. Danzey as president is well under way with its work. There are 17 members and each from the beginning has felt a definite responsibility toward the full program of the church. They have been instrumental in furnishing the kitchen in the church and several of the money-making projects have been headed by this group of fine women. At present they are selling Christmas cards and the proceeds will go toward the building fund.

The choir directed by Mrs. R. F. Heritage has 15 active members and each feels his or her responsibility toward the service. Those that hear the choir marvel at the wonderful progress this group has made. They enjoy the work so much that the members ask to meet at least twice a week. Two choirs for children have been organized. These are directed by Mrs. J. C. McDaniels. From the beginning of the church, Mrs. C. L. Harris and Mr. Max Kulcke have been most effective in their work as pianist. The commissions — education, evangelism, missions, and finance — meet regularly and are active in their particular field. We have already engaged in a program of visitation of the convalesant homes, the hospitals and other places of service. The prospects are visited regularly by the evangelistic group in the church. A budget of approximately $500 per month has been assumed. We expect to increase this at an early date.

Underlying all the progress of our church has been an active and consecrated board of trustees under the leadership of B. A. Hynum and board of stewards under the leadership of C. E. Vaughan, Jr. More than $13,000.00 cash money has passed through the books of our treasurer Pete Medak. In addition to this amount, the labor, materials and supplies that have been donated run more than $7,000.00.

At this time we owe $7,000.00. When a sufficient amount of this debt can be paid, we will begin our sanctuary. Mr. Salley has already furnished us with a beautiful plan for a sanctuary that we hope to begin soon. Enthusiasm is high, the need is great, for already we are four rooms short in our Sunday School, but we do not see how we can begin right away unless God provides the means for us, Rev. Joyner states.

MRS. SLAGLE IS P.-T. A. SPEAKER

Tells Duties Of Citizenship At Meeting Held In Lida Benton School

Lida Benton P.-T. A. held its monthly meeting Oct. 9th in the school auditorium. The Rev. R. A. McCormick gave the invocation.

Mrs. Elmer Slagle, president, League of Women Voters, gave a very enlightening and inspiring talk. Her subject was "Facts About the General Election and the Citizen's Responsibility." She made the entire group conscious of their responsibility as a voter; from a woman standpoint her responsibility is various and numerous. One important point brought out was the advantage of talking politics before our children so that they may grow up with a consciousness of their responsibility as an American citizen and their privilege to vote.

Mrs. Mary S. Buchanan's fifth grade put on an excellent skit on fire prevention week. Miss Jo Ann Ransom's fifth grade added to the program by giving safety rules and precautions of fire prevention. Mrs. Raburn Wroten rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Wroten on the piano.

During the business session a report was made on the fifth district meeting held at Logtown Oct. 7th. It was announced that next P.-T. A. meeting will be held Nov. 13th at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium. Open house will be observed in the school with the teachers meeting parents in the various rooms. Following, there will be a panel discussion on children in today's world as a special feature of American Education Week which is Nov. 9th through Nov. 15th. After adjournment the sixth grade mothers were hostesses at a social hour. Miss Harper's kindergarten and Mrs. Riddle's sixth grade won room count.

MONTICELLO TO GET FFA AWARD

Choice Hereford Bull To Be Donated By Sears RoeBuck

Gordon Canterbury, district supervisor of vocational agriculture, state department of education, Baton Rouge, announced this week that the Monticello chapter of the Future Farmers of America has been awarded one of 26 registered Hereford bulls donated to the Louisiana Association of F. F. A. by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. The bull will be under the direct supervision of Sam D. Sandidge, teacher of vocational agriculture, and H. T. Poole, principal of the Monticello High School. The animal will be placed on the farm of M. H. King, Jr., a third-year student of vocational agriculture.

A total of 98 registered Hereford bulls have been placed in as many Louisiana communities with students of agriculture during the past three years. These animals are being cared for according to recommendations of the agriculture teachers and have made splendid progress in improving the quality of beef cattle throughout the state.

The boys care for the animals, fit and show them in various livestock shows, and receive practical experience in the production of quality beef cattle. Accurate records are kept as to breeding, showing, feeding and management. The student of agriculture may purchase the bull at any time within two years from the date he received the animal by paying to the Louisiana Association of F. F. A. the original purchase price of $300.00. This money is used to purchase additional bulls to be distributed to other Future Farmer chapters.

Free Methodists Plan Fall Revival

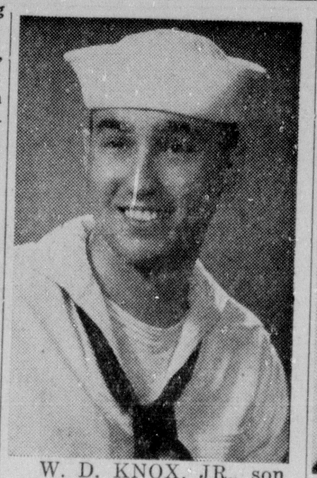
October 19 through November 2, marks the time for fall revival, at the Free Methodist Church of West Monroe, on Lincoln and McGuire Streets. The Reverend Marvin Osborne is to be the evangelist. He is a graduate of Asbury Theological Seminary of Wilmore, Ken. He comes to us with much experience in evangelistic work, and a rich background from a recent trip to the Holy Land.

He has just recently returned, and this will be his first series of meetings that he holds since arriving back in the states. We are looking forward to seeing and hearing many interesting things that he will have as the result of his travels.

Mrs. Osborne will be accompanying Rev. Osborne with special music which they will provide from night to night.

Rev. Osborne believes and preaches the old Wesley Methodistic line, and comes to us with no denominational boundaries, but only to see souls saved.

Don't miss hearing this young man of God. You'll be missing a blessing. Services will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m.



W. D. KNOX, JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Knox, Sterlington has completed 12 weeks of basic training and is now assigned to the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps school at the Great Lakes. He is a Neville graduate and had entered Northeast State here.

The U. S. produces more than $1,000,000,000 worth of pig iron annually, a greater value than any other single manufactured product.

The prong-horned antelope is the only animal known to shed its horns. It sheds only the outer shell.

FLASH SEEKS SAFETY IN THE UNEXPLORED FOREST-OF-PERPETUAL-RAIN. TO HIS AMAZEMENT HE FINDS THAT THE FISH-MEN ARE AMPHIBIOUS AND CAN CONTINUE THEIR PURSUIT ASHORE. "YOU AND ZARKOV GO AHEAD," FLASH TELLS DALE. "I'LL TRY TO DISCOURAGE OUR FINNY FRIENDS!"

THE FIRST BURST FROM FLASH'S FLAME-GUN CATCHES THE FISH-MEN BY SURPRISE. AS THEIR LEADER FALLS, THE OTHERS SCURRY BACK TO THE SAFETY OF THEIR CHEMICAL SEA! IT TAKES FLASH BUT A FEW MINUTES TO CATCH UP TO DALE AND ZARKOV IN THE FOREST.

PUSHING INTO THE DRIPPING WILDERNESS, THE LITTLE GROUP OF EARTHLINGS LEAVES THE FISH-MEN'S SEA FAR BEHIND. SUDDENLY DALE BREAKS THE EERIE SILENCE: "LOOK! THOSE LEAVES ARE AS BIG AS TENTS!" FLASH CHUCKLES: "I CAN TAKE A HINT, DARLING--WE'LL REST UNDER ONE!"

FLASH SEEKS VAINLY FOR THE OWNER OF THE VOICE. FROM THE FOREST COMES THE HISSING SOUND OF A CHEMI-SPRAY GUN, AND THE ROOF-BUSH SHELTER GOES UP IN SMOKE! AGAIN THE VOICE IS HEARD: "KING STANG OF VENUS MEANS WHAT HE SAYS--DROP YOUR GUNS OR YOU DIE!"

OKAY, SWAMI, WHAT ODDS ARE YOU GIVING FOR NEXT WEEK ON MARYLAND AND LOUISIANA STATE, WISCONSIN AND U.C.L.A., WASHINGTON AND STANFORD, TEXAS AND RICE?

WELL, I... HOLD IT! WE HAVE A CALL! OCTOPUS, THIS IS APPLE SIX! OVER

APPLE SIX, WE HAVE A RELAYED MESSAGE FROM THE MOUNTIES AND A U.S.A.F. MAJOR CANYON THAT A WOMAN IS BEING CARRIED DOWNSTREAM ON THE AGRI RIVER IN A RED CANOE! SHE DEPARTED WITCH LAKE AT ABOUT 1020 HOURS... CHECK AND REPORT... OVER...

OCTOPUS, APPLE SIX ALTERING COURSE TO PICK UP THE AGRI AT GUNNER'S POINT! TURNING UPSTREAM FROM THERE!..OVER

THE AIR FORCE RESCUE SERVICE PLANE SWINGS EAST OVER THE TUMBLING STREAM AND FOR MINUTES THE TWO MEN SCAN THE SWIFT SURFACE...

SEE ANYTHING YET?

NO... HEY! YES! OVERTURNED CANOE ABOVE THE BEND!

THE WOMAN IS HANGING ON TO THE STERN...

THAT CURRENT WILL CARRY HER OVER SOURDOUGH FALLS UNLESS SOMEBODY CAN PULL HER OUT!

NO SIGN OF LIFE BETWEEN HER AND THE FALLS... WONDER HOW FAST THAT WATER IS MOVING?

I CAN CHECK OFF AN ESTIMATE ON THE STOP WATCH WHILE YOU TURN...

YOU THINKING THE SAME THING I AM?

—AND KEEP THE ENGINE REVVED UP TO TAXI SPEED PLUS... DO YOU THINK WE'RE NUTS..?

THE MAN IN THE STRIPED PANTS PAYS US TO RESCUE PEOPLE... LET'S GO TO WORK!...

SO THE LIGHT CRAFT BANKS AND LINES UP WITH THE RIVER —THEN HEADS FOR THE BRINK OF THE FALLS...

IF OUR LANDING SPEED IS EQUALIZED BY THE FORCE OF THE CURRENT, WE SHOULD STAND STILL...

IF NOT, YOU CAN KEEP THAT $4.32 YOU OWE ME!
